POLICE TOLD WEIRD STORY OF TORTURES BY SECRET SOCIETY

Young Men Declare They Were Branded With Hot Irons, Had Their Hair Torn Out and Were Otherwise Maltreated in Old Barn in Saanich—Two Arrests Made

INVESTIGATION of what police believe was a secret society alleged to have carried out a series of weird initiations before admitting persons to membership, is being conducted by Chief Allan Rankin, of the Saanich police, and Provincial officers, and follows reports that the initiations consisted of tormenting novitiates.

Police reported yesterday they had arrested two men whom they allege were at the head of the society. Their names were given as: R. Burnett, resident of East Sooke and recently arrived from the United States, and P. Walker, also of East Sooke. The men are to appear in the Saanich court at 11 o'clock this morning, and a further remand may be asked for to permit police to continue their investigations of what they term a peculiar circumstance.

The arrest of the two men followed reports to Chief Rankin of alleged strange ceremonies attending the initiation of new members to the group. The reports were that some were branded with a hot instrument with the letters "U.O.N.", others were forced to walk with spiked leggings. Some were gagged, and it is alleged by "members" who went through the ceremonies, hair was torn from their heads and frayed manila rope and horsehair were used as litanies.

BEARS BRAND
Police say that one of those who went through the initiation still retains the letters "U.O.N." alleged to have been seared in the flesh of his right side. Officers claim that three persons were initiated on the night of June 4 in an old red barn in Saanich. They gave their names as Wilbert Lindstrom and Michael Share, Victoria, and Bruce Cartwright, Wilkinson Road, Saanich. Police said another man was initiated but his name was not disclosed.

POLICE INTERFERED
A further initiation was to have taken place last Sunday night, but the "new members" was prevented from going through an ordeal when Provincial and Saanich police, stationed inside the barn, intervened. Arrests of the alleged ringleaders followed.

PREMIER UNDER SPECIAL GUARD

Threats Made Against M. Hepburn Taken Seriously By Police

TORONTO, June 18 (AP).—Provincial police are guarding Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn following threats against his life, made in the past ten days. The Mail and Empire says today.

The newspaper, saying it "learned authoritatively at Queen's Park" threats had been made, further said:

"So seriously are these threats regarded that Provincial police are reported to be keeping a careful but inconspicuous watch over the Premier's movements at the Parliament Buildings."

CAR IS ARMED
"A personal aide and bodyguard keeps him company constantly and his car, in its daily travels, is said to be armed, under police authority, to meet any emergency that might arise."

INDIAN CHILDREN ADRIFT ON RIVER

Went Out in Leaking Canoe—Boatman Rescued Them After Long Chase

MISSION, B.C., June 17 (AP).—An Indian mother and her two small children were reunited tonight, after the children had been rescued from a leaky canoe in which they had drifted some thirty-five miles on the Fraser River.

Noted that the two children, the boy aged nine and the girl seven, were drifting along on the crest of the Spring freshet, John Cannon, set out after them in a gasboat and finally picked them up at Matsqui Island.

They were taken to St. Mary's Indian School here, where they were found by the frantic mother, who had gone shopping and left the two asleep.

GOVERNMENT IS INQUIRING

Sino-Japanese Situation Regarded as Grave by British Cabinet

LONDON, June 17 (AP).—Sir Samuel Hoare, new Foreign Secretary, informed the House of Commons today that Great Britain is making a thorough inquiry into the Sino-Japanese situation.

Sir Samuel did not reveal details of the investigation, but it was learned that the Government regards the outlook as so grave that developments in China may lead to representations under the Nine-Power Treaty.

(Phases of the Sino-Japanese situation were talked over in Washington today by Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, and William Phillips, Under-Secretary of State, but officials refused to disclose details.)

SAY REPORTS FALSE
TIENTSIN, China, June 17 (AP).—Japanese army officials united in a statement tonight, declaring reports that "the Japanese army is planning drastic steps" in China's Chahar Province were false.

Tokio leaders in this section of North China denied reports that they had rejected China's proposals for peaceful settlement of a recent incident at Changpei, Chahar Province.

Lieut.-Col. Y. Ishii, chief of staff of the Japanese garrison in Tientsin, said: "Sung Cheyuan, Governor of Chahar Province, appears sincerely anxious to settle the incident through negotiation. The matter will be treated locally."

Lieut.-Col. Ishii refused to state the status of Chahar affairs. He asserted Japan does not demand that Sung Cheyuan's army evacuate Chahar.

Another statement from the Japanese military here said "tension in Hopei Province" has relaxed.

CHILD DROWNED IN SHALLOW WATER

DUNCAN, June 17 (AP).—Peter Westwood, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Westwood, was drowned on Sunday when he fell into Price's Slough, a backwater of Cowichan River, at the rear of the family home.

Police, neighbors and Boy Scouts had joined in the search before the body was found by Harry Carter in two feet of water. An inhalator was used for two and a half hours without effect.

Island Contributions to Roads Since 1917 Would Hard Surface 1500 Miles

By B. A. McKELVIE
Scant attention is given to the peculiar needs of Vancouver Island in the matter of highways, and successive governments have adopted a peculiar yardstick for the consideration of the claims of this part of the province. This was never better illustrated than a reply given recently to an Island organization which urged the improvement of Island highways as a commercial necessity. The reply of a comprehensive plea for improvement was given by a Minister of the Crown, who wrote:

"I do not know that I can agree

Sea Serpent With Face Like Mummy

A fishing boat brought into San Francisco harbor recently an unusual specimen of sea life. The serpent has a face like a mummy, and its tail, which begins just back of its ears, is nine feet long. The strange sea beast is believed to be an offspring of "Minnie O'Malley," the much-hunted sea serpent of 1934 off Contra Costa County, Cal., which evaded capture by the most experienced zoo attendants. Miss Bobby Gilland is pictured with the strange creature.

GOVERNMENT TO PAY COST OF DELEGATES WHO GO TO OTTAWA

Relief Camp Strikers Accept Proposals Offered by Federal Ministers

FOOD AND LODGING WILL BE PROVIDED

REGINA, June 17 (AP).—Striking relief camp workers tonight accepted proposals of the Federal Government to send a delegation to Ottawa to present their grievances. They will leave here within thirty-six hours while the main body of the 2,000 men remains in the city.

While the strikers paraded through the city streets with women and children leading the way, the delegation went into conference with Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, and Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, who had made the proposals earlier in the day.

The strikers presented their reply, accepting the offer of the Cabinet members. The agreement, reached at 9:40 p.m. (12:40 a.m. E.D.T.), was:

FIGHT FOR GUN ENDS FATALLY

Man and Wife Scuffle Over Possession of Revolver

EVERETT, Wash., June 17 (AP).—William Cochrane, forty-six, proprietor of the Avalon Roadhouse near here, died tonight from gunshot wounds received when a revolver over which he and his wife were scuffling was discharged. Cochrane was shot in the stomach, while his wife had a finger shot off.

Mrs. Cochrane was brought to the Snohomish County Jail here for questioning. She told officers her husband, who she said had been drinking, came out of the bedroom with the revolver and threatened to kill himself. She attempted to take the gun away from him, she said, and it was discharged in the scuffle.

Mrs. Thomas Wolfe, an employee at the roadhouse, was also held for questioning. Cochrane is survived by three brothers, Edward L. Cochrane, of Seattle, and John and Harold Cochrane, of Kent.

EXCHANGE FUND IS ESTABLISHED

House Provides Against Fluctuations in Dollar's Market Value

OTTAWA, June 17 (AP).—A $52,000,000 exchange fund, which could be sent to the rescue of the Canadian dollar if it started fluctuating widely in world money markets, was provided for tonight by the House of Commons.

In less than an hour the House passed a bill sponsored by Premier R. B. Bennett and sent it to the Senate for ratification. The fund will not be used unless unforeseen events make it necessary.

PROFITS ON GOLD
Actually, the fund will not cost the taxpayers a cent, because it represents profits on gold handed over to the Bank of Canada.

The par value of gold when the central bank was established was $20.67 an ounce, but its actual value on the open market was about $35. The Bank of Canada carried it on its books at the lower figure. The present bill realigns it at the current market price and creates the stabilization fund from the profits.

Saying Good-Bye to Winnie Mae But Not to Stratosphere

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., June 17 (AP).—Wiley Post is through with his faithful Winnie Mae—but not with the stratosphere. The one-eyed world girder will do some more stratosphere flying, but not until he has taken a vacation.

Post revealed this before leaving today for Wichita, Kas., where he landed on Saturday on his fourth unsuccessful attempt to span the continent at high altitude.

He declined to say where he will take his vacation, but it is assumed he will go on a hunting trip to Alaska this Summer.

Dominion Bridge To Get Contract For Fraser Span

Premier Pattullo Announces Decision of Government to Award Toll Project to Lower Tenderer, on Its Agreement to Dispose of $2,000,000 in Short-Term Bonds at 3.5 Per Cent

"WE are awarding the contract for construction of the New Westminster bridge to the Dominion Bridge Company, which submitted the lowest tender. As the whole of the cost of the bridge will not be required at once, we have arranged with the company to dispose of bonds to the amount of $2,000,000, three-year term, callable at par, with interest at 3½ per cent," Premier Pattullo announced last evening.

On June 10 last, Hon. F. M. Macpherson opened two tenders for construction of the proposed toll bridge over the Fraser River at New Westminster. The Dominion Bridge Company submitted a bid of $2,722,000, and the Western Bridge Company one of $2,854,000, in round figures. Both tenders were for the major part of the project, exclusive of the supply of cement, purchase of right-of-way, supervision and agents' costs to be undertaken by the Province directly.

NINE OBJECTIVES
The Premier's announcement as to the award of contract was the major development in Provincial news of the day. It came at the end of a half-hour address made by the Premier.

Actually, the fund will not cost the taxpayers a cent, because it represents profits on gold handed over to the Bank of Canada.

The par value of gold when the central bank was established was $20.67 an ounce, but its actual value on the open market was about $35. The Bank of Canada carried it on its books at the lower figure. The present bill realigns it at the current market price and creates the stabilization fund from the profits.

Paris Is Prepared to Denounce Naval Agreement If London Signs Accord With Berlin—Will Assume Freedom in Matters of Marine Armament—Complains of Non-Consultation

Asserts Grave Sea Problem Threatens Europe as Result

(Copyright, 1935, by the Hearst News Agency)

PARIS, June 17.—The French reply to Great Britain's negotiations for an Anglo-German naval accord amounts to a warning if the accord is signed France will denounce her Naval Treaty obligations, it was said tonight in well informed circles here.

It was understood the note in reply to Great Britain's inquiries, handed to the British ambassador by Premier Pierre Laval, declared in effect if the Anglo-German accord goes through France will seek complete naval freedom.

This would mean virtual denunciations by France of the Washington and London naval treaties, in the conviction French security is threatened by a German fleet 35 per cent the size of Great Britain's.

NON-COMMITTAL
The note was described as constituting neither a refusal to approve the Anglo-German accord nor approval. Nevertheless, it was believed to make the sharp point the French Government was not consulting by Great Britain before opening of the Anglo-German negotiations.

Further, the note was said to declare, the Anglo-German accord is to be concluded separately from the other powers, and under these conditions it is not up to France to enter into the negotiations.

The French note was understood to insist on the inter-dependence of land and sea armaments established by the disarmament conference at Geneva. It was believed to refer to the declaration of the powers at Geneva December 11, 1932, on Germany's equality of rights, which subordinated German rearmament to organization of collective security of all nations.

The Franco-British declaration of last February 3 and the Stresa declaration of last April 12, were also mentioned.

DOMINION TO OPPOSE ORDER OF RESTRAINT

The Dominion Government will resist the interim injunction secured by Attorney-General Gordon M. Sloan restraining the operation of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act, it was stated yesterday, when E. Stuart Davidson, senior official receiver under the Federal act, visited Victoria to discuss the situation with Lindley Crease, K.C., who will act for the Federal board.

While Mr. Davidson declined to comment on the action of the British Columbia Government, he intimated that it was the intention of the credit organization to fight the injunction proceedings.

Crushing Monopolies Are Alternative to Restricted Industry

Premier R. B. Bennett Replies to Liberal Attacks Against Clause in Bill Making Tariff Board Commission for Trade and Industry

OTTAWA, June 17 (AP).—Dominating, crushing monopolies or controlled, restricted industries were described by the House of Commons today by Premier R. B. Bennett as alternative courses in Canadian commerce.

The House pushed almost through committee stage the Government bill designating the Tariff Board a trade and industry commission, charging it with some of the duties outlined by the Mass Buying Commission.

REPLIES TO ATTACKS
The Prime Minister outlined his alternative while replying to attacks from the Liberals against one clause which gave the Tariff Board power to sanction price and production agreements among individual manufacturers.

He put his alternative plans in these words: "Shall we permit creation of a condition that will prevent growth of monopolies and creation of monopolies by adequate restrictions and regulations, or shall we permit unrestrained operation of free competition to the destruction of free competition?"

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or anything else and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. If it just piles up in the bowels, it comes to your stomach. You have a little thick, hard taste and your bowels are foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes, your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain no harmful, harsh, gentle vegetable extracts, gentle when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't take for free pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of a substitute. 25¢ a drug store. © 1931 C. M. Co.

TO BE MADE AMBASSADOR

Ramsay MacDonald May Go As Special Envoy to United States

LONDON, June 17 (AP)—The Herald's diplomatic correspondent said today Ramsay MacDonald, former Prime Minister, may go to the United States as a special representative to discuss the possibilities of Anglo-American co-operation in world affairs.

The Herald said the idea was being "seriously considered" because Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare and Capt. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, feel closer relations between Great Britain and the United States are necessary.

AS AMBASSADOR

The Herald said Mr. MacDonald might be a "sort of an ambassador-at-large."

When the former Prime Minister arrived at Loughborough the day after he resigned, he said he was there to regain his strength "for further activities as great as ever." This was held in some quarters as a possible hint that he was prepared then for some special task such as the American trip.

GOVERNMENT TO PAY COST OF DELEGATES

1. A delegation of eight men will form a negotiating committee to go to Ottawa, all expenses to be paid by the Government.

2. The main body of men will be fed three meals a day at 20c a meal in city restaurants while remaining in the city.

3. Additional quarters are to be given the men for housing.

4. No attempts are to be made by the Government or Government officials to intimidate or disrupt the forces of the men while the negotiating committee is in Ottawa.

5. The delegation for Ottawa will leave within thirty-six hours.

SEEK NO RECRUITS

6. It is agreed by the men that they will give no encouragement to others to join them except the 300 men now en route from the Dundurn camp near Saskatoon.

7. It is agreed by the men that no attempt will be made to board any freight trains in Regina.

8. Officials of the two railway companies have agreed to provide meals for the delegation en route to Ottawa.

THE SIX DEMANDS

They include removal of camps from the Department of Defence administration; work and wages programme; application of the Workmen's Compensation Act to men in relief camps; and recognition by authorities of camp committees.

After the strikers' demands are discussed with the Government at Ottawa, the delegation will return to Regina and submit the results to a mass meeting of the men remaining in Regina. If satisfactory the men will negotiate for return to Vancouver. If unsatisfactory they will have to decide what action to take then.

POLICE TOLD WEIRD STORY OF TORTURES

Chief Rankin obtained a number of articles said to have been used for the initiation. A pair of leggings with the points of thumb tacks protruding through the inside. The tacks were set in the leather to form the letters "U.O.N." He also secured a knife similar to those used by Boy Scouts, and the chief says he was informed the "hook pick," which forms part of the combination knife, was heated and used by the leaders to "brand" the members. He also recovered a quantity of what looks like human hair and some strands of rope, two pieces of cardboard, one purporting to be a membership card in the "order" and the other an admission ticket to a dance sponsored by the "U.O.N."

TELL OF SUFFERINGS

Two of the men, who claimed to have been through the initiation ceremony told police, according to Chief Rankin, they were driven blindfolded, from the Armouries on Bay Street to the barn. They claim to have been the victims of cruel practices. One said he had been hung from a beam, head down, for fully twenty minutes, was forced to swallow sand and clay. Another claimed to have been thrown into Portage Inlet after having been walked, blindfolded, along a railway track within sound of an approaching train.

WALKED IN WOODS

The police also were told by another "member" that he was forced to wander through the woods at Sooke while blindfolded and claims he was exhausted by the ordeal. All were threatened, they said, if they revealed the secrets of the society. Two of them, however, notified the Provincial Police and an investigation was started and is continuing.

Chief Rankin and members of the Provincial body are continuing the investigation. They have learned that the initiation fee was fixed at $5.00 and that promises were held out for work as musicians to two of those who joined. One of the leaders posed as the grand vicer and another as the vicer. There was nothing on the membership card, secured by the police, to indicate the nature of the society, or group.

Longshoremen Here Remain Neutral on Vancouver Strike

Decide Not to Join Mainland Call for Sympathetic Walkout, But Will Not Unload "Unfair" Ships—Union Steamship Company Tied-Up

COMPLYING with a request from Mainland waterfront workers for a vote on the strike situation, voting was completed at the local hall of the Victoria Association of Transport Workers, the result being adverse to going out under the circumstances. The local men, however, have assured the Mainland strikers, that they will not work any ship coming from Vancouver or New Westminster.

Work on ships at the local docks proceeded regularly Sunday and yesterday. The Ss. Pacific Commerce discharged her cargo here, the Trondanger finished loading wheat, and was followed at the elevator by the Golden Sea. Arriving last night, the Pacific Ranger discharged her cargo and loaded some lumber for the homeward bound voyage.

SEIZED WITH FATAL ILLNESS IN WATER

VANCOUVER, June 17 (AP)—William Hird, seventy-year-old visitor from Egerston, Alta., who collapsed from a paralytic stroke while bathing in English Bay, June 7, died last night. He had not recovered consciousness.

SUSPEND SERVICE

VANCOUVER, June 17 (AP)—Deck and engine-room crews and waterfront employees of the Union Steamship Company, tonight joined striking Vancouver longshoremen, and the company announced all services would be suspended until further notice.

The latest additions to the ranks of waterfront workers who went on strike June 6, walked out in answer to a call for a general strike by all affiliated locals of the Longshore and Water Transport Workers' Union of Canada. The Union Steamship employees signed a new agreement with the company some two weeks ago, under the new agreement the hours of work were reduced, wage rates increased and other concessions made by the company.

ISSUES STATEMENT

In a statement tonight Union company officials said:

"The Union Steamship Company's seamen, firemen, waiters and waterfront workers have abandoned their employment without notice notwithstanding the agreement entered into in good faith on both sides two weeks ago.

"Our services will therefore be unavoidably suspended until other arrangements can be made. While the company deeply regrets this unprecedented state of affairs they desire the public to understand the circumstances, for the moment, are entirely beyond their control."

The sailings were cancelled tonight by the company which serves coastwise trade. The Ss. Capilano was scheduled to leave for Squamish with the Chelohin leaving later for Menzies Bay. The Ss. Cardena, which was set to leave tomorrow for Campbell River, was also being held up.

WARNS STRIKERS

Meanwhile Mayor G. G. McGeer stepped into the picture with a warning for strike leaders to stay within the law, particularly in regard to speeches.

The mayoral announcement was made after an investigation had been ordered in lieu of statements alleged to have been made by a strike leader and which Mayor McGeer said "if correctly reported is brazen and open inciting to riot, and will be dealt with accordingly."

CHARGED under the Canada Steamship Act with "disobeying lawful commands and impeding navigation of a vessel," ten members of the crew of the Frank Waterhouse freighter Southolm were arrested late yesterday afternoon by Constables A. G. Carmichael and E. Holm, of the Provincial Police force.

The vessel was lying at the Empire Cannery Dock at Esquimalt when the alleged offence occurred. This morning the men will appear before Magistrate George Jay in the Provincial Police Court.

MRS. M. ELKINGTON CALLED BY DEATH

Came to Victoria From Toronto Forty Years Ago—Passes Away In Hospital

Mrs. Mary Elkington, aged sixty-seven years, of 1042 Princess Avenue, died yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital. She was born in England and came to Victoria from Toronto about forty years ago.

She is survived by one son, Cyril, in Toronto; one daughter, Mrs. R. J. Stewart, Victoria; four brothers, Tom Arden, Walnut Creek, Cal.; William Arden, Jr., Metochin; Eustace, Shirlev, Vancouver Island; and Percy Arden, Metochin; two sisters, Mrs. C. Clay, Everett, and Mrs. J. Pears, Langley Prairie; her father, William Arden, Sr., Metochin, and one granddaughter, in Toronto.

The remains are resting at the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home, pending funeral arrangements, which will be announced later.

BLAME NEW POISON GAS FOR EXPLOSION

PARIS, June 17 (AP)—Havans—Concern was expressed here today over reports of secret experiments with a new German "poisonous and explosive" gas of terrifying power "had caused the Reindorf explosion disaster near Berlin last week."

"The series of explosions which occurred justify a theory that the gas burst into flames and successively ignited a series of dynamite storerooms," a spokesman for a group of Belgian chemists in commenting at Liege, told a correspondent of Le Journal.

MUST SERVE SENTENCES

Matthew Corey and William Flockhart Lose Appeals Before Tribunal Here

William Flockhart and Matthew Corey, convicted by Judge C. J. Lennon in Vancouver of the theft of a bathtub from an unoccupied house, and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary, will have to serve their terms in prison. They appeared before the British Columbia Court of Appeal here yesterday morning in person. The decision of the court, which was unanimous, was that there was no reason advanced for interfering with the conviction.

Both had the same story to offer when they faced the members of the court. It was that the fittings of the bathtub were not shown to correspond with the bathtub itself. They held that evidence should have been called to couple this up before convicting them.

PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS

Flockhart had been convicted on two previous occasions, while Corey had a long list of convictions dating back to when he was a boy, from petty thieving to theft with violence. Walter S. Owen appeared for the Crown, but was not called upon by the court to offer any argument.

Before being brought before the court, the prisoners were taken before Mr. Justice Martin, when they put forward a claim for the consideration of their sentences, on the ground that the terms were too severe for the crimes for which they were convicted. His Lordship, however, refused to allow the right to appeal from the sentences.

The accompanying chart shows how the price of gasoline to the retailer has decreased and the gasoline tax has increased since 1924. The data for this graph are based on figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

FALLING PRICES—RISING TAXES

IN 1924 the average price to the retailer of all gasoline sold in Canada was 26.6 cents per Imperial gallon. Since 1924 the price has fallen almost continuously and for 1933 and 1934 it stood at 18.8 cents—nearly eight cents less than in 1924.

"But," you say, "gasoline does not cost me eight cents less a gallon than ten years ago."

You are right, and this is why: In 1924 the gasoline tax was new in Canada and the total gasoline tax collected in that year amounted to an average of only a little more than 1/4 of one cent for each gallon consumed. But as the price of gasoline fell the tax on gasoline rose to higher and higher levels until in 1933 it amounted to nearly 5 1/2 cents for each gallon consumed in Canada.

When you buy a gallon of Imperial gasoline you also pay other taxes totaling about 8/10 of one cent. The profit which Imperial Oil earned on each gallon of gasoline that it made and sold during 1934 was just over 5/10 of one cent per Imperial gallon.

PUBLIC PAYS TRIBUTE TO BEST CITIZEN

Entire Community Represented at Funeral of Late Fred Landsberg

ODD FELLOWS' SERVICE FOLLOWED BY HEBREW

A moving tribute from a community deeply appreciative of a life devoted to the service of his fellow men was paid yesterday afternoon to the memory of the late Fred Landsberg by a congregation that filled the Odd Fellows' Hall, Douglas Street, to capacity on the occasion of the funeral of this honored citizen.

Every class, every denomination and practically every benevolent and charitable organization was represented, indicating the impartial humanitarianism which his life expressed.

IMPRESSIVE RITUAL
The impressive ritual combined that of the Odd Fellows and the Hebrew Church. Bro. A. McCabe, past grand and recording secretary of Victoria Lodge No. 1, I.O.O.F., assisted by Bro. E. H. Goble, chaplain, and Bro. C. Brown, noble grand, had charge of the service for the Odd Fellows, and Rabbi Marcus Berner, of the local Jewish Synagogue, Temple Emanuel, Pandora Avenue, conducted the traditional Hebrew prayers for the dead, read first in Hebrew, then in English. At the Jewish Cemetery, Fernwood Road, where interment took place later in the afternoon, another throng of mourners was present, while the shorter committal rite of the Odd Fellows were carried out by the same officers of the order, these again being followed by a short Jewish service in Hebrew and English, conducted by Rabbi Berner. Odd Fellows wore their stoles and badges, and mourning drapes descended from some of the lodge emblems hung about the hall. The music consisted of two male-voice quartettes of religious character. Zoller's "Where Shall I Be?" and Protheroe's "Beautiful Life," the four singers being Frank Tupman, George Farmer, J. W. Buckler and H. S. Benham.

"GREAT AND GOOD"
An eloquent appreciation of Mr. Landsberg's life was given by Mr. McCabe, who summarized the deceased's personality as being that of "a great and good man, a great and good Odd Fellow, a sublime character with all the qualities that constitute true greatness."

"We are gathered here today in accordance with the ritual of our order, in obedience to the solemn commands of our ritual, to pay our last respects to a brother who has departed from among us," Mr. McCabe said, before briefly rehearsing the life and character of Mr. Landsberg.

One of a family of seventeen, Mr. Landsberg had left his native land when he was but a lad, came to Canada, and, overcoming the handicap of education and language, grew gradually in public esteem until he became one of Victoria's foremost

Sunset Provides Photographic Poem

Symphonic poems have their rivals in photography. This symphony of beauty lacks only the natural coloring, not obtainable in a snapshot, to make it an inspiration for any poet. "Sunset on the Pacific" is the title of the picture, taken by Andrew Wright, 1225 Government Street, who received honorable mention in The Daily Colonist May Snapshot Contest.

citizens, holding the admiration and respect of everyone with whom he came in contact.

HEART OF GOLD
Small of stature, Mr. Landsberg had a heart as big as a mountain, and of pure gold. A plain man of the people, he had simple tastes, and one of his last requests was that his casket should be plain and unadorned; that no money be spent on flowers; but rather that it be given to the aged men. This was symbolic of the man, as was also the fact that on the morning of his last day he called his associates to his bedside and there dictated what should be done—not for himself, but for others whose welfare he always placed first.

"His was a life devoted to service; he gave unstintingly of his time and talents; he was ever at the call of his more unfortunate brethren. The poor, the sick, the aged, the blind, never appealed to him in vain. With a wonderful ability for organizing, with an energy that belied his age, and a personal appeal that none could resist, and most important of all, retaining the utmost confidence and implicit faith of his fellow-citizens, he raised large sums for the alleviation of distress, the speaker stated.

NEEDS NO EULOGY
Fred Landsberg, Mr. McCabe said, required no eulogy, for his eulogy was written in the hearts of the people whom he had helped in the community, and those who had been associated with him and knew something of his many benefactions, to which he had devoted a life-time.

A humble man he sought no reward, yet he had many honors conferred on him, among these being his nomination as "Victoria's Best Citizen." He also had been awarded the Jubilee Medal. On one occasion the aged men, whom he had always befriended, had presented him with a small token of their appreciation. This had embarrassed him greatly, and afterwards he had told friends that he felt he had not deserved it.

"Surely," declared the speaker, "no more fitting epitaph can be found for Fred Landsberg, than that 'he went about doing good.'"

EXPRESS SYMPATHY
Mr. McCabe expressed the sincere sympathy of the Odd Fellows and the entire community to the bereaved family. The whole community was the poorer by his passing. But he would be the last to wish people to mourn for him, preferring rather that his fellow-men would take up the task he had laid down, renegeate their lives to the cause of the living, making an effort to banish suffering and distress from the earth.

"When we come to pass into the vale, may we, like Brother Landsberg, hear the welcome plaudits: 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant!'" said the speaker, in concluding his address.

HONORARY PALLBEARERS
The honorary pallbearers were: Hon. John Hart, representing the Provincial Government; Mayor David Leeming, representing the City Council; Reeve R. W. Mayhew; Councillor: Reeve William Crouch, Saanich; Reeve Alexander Lockley, Esquimalt; Thomas A. Burgess, Annapolis; and Hon. J. W. Winslow, representing the Order of United Workmen; A. E. Holmwood, past chief ranger of the Ancient Order of Foresters; Herbert Ansell, M.P.P., Independent Order of Odd Fellows; Trustee W. T. Straith, Chamber of Commerce; James H. Beatty, Agent Men's Home; George I. Warren, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau; John Goldie, Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp; F. E. Winslow, Friendly Help Welfare Association; Capt. B. J. Gadsden, Victoria Welfare Foundation (Sunshine Inn); Sir Richard Lake, Canadian Red Cross Society; M. C. Robinson, of Vancouver, Canadian National Institute for the Blind; Dr. A. G. Price, Victoria Horticultural Society; Rev. C. G. MacKenzie, John Howard Society; Joseph Rose, Congregation Emanuel; B. C. Nicholas, The Daily Times; H. T. Nelson, The Daily Colonist; James Forman.

Obituary
KNOWLES—Mrs. Myrtle Alice Knowles, wife of William Henry Knowles, 635 Hillside Avenue, passed away early yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. She was born in Wyllye, Wiltshire, England, twenty-three years ago, and came to Victoria in 1917. She is survived by her husband, at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Doughty, and one brother, E. G. Doughty, all at 370 Harriett Road, Saanich. Funeral services will be conducted on Thursday, at 2:30 o'clock, at Carter's Funeral Home.

BASS—Albert Milton Bass passed away yesterday at the family residence, 2954 Cedar Hill Road. Mr. Bass is survived by his widow, at home, and one daughter, Mrs. G. O. Hughes, 315 St. James Street, and two brothers, one in Marquette, Ont., and one in Toronto. He was born in Brockville, Ont., and had resided here for several years. The funeral is being held at Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel and services will be conducted there on Thursday, at 3:15 o'clock. Interment will be in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park.

NORTHWICH, England—William Hornby, a chemical laborer, walked and worked for twenty years with a bullet in his brain. He died recently in the National Hospital for Brain Diseases, London.

SHIPPING IS ON INCREASE AT ALBERNI

With Decision of Longshoremen Not to Strike Business Improves

LUMBER ORDERS BEING RENEWED

PORT ALBERNI, June 17.—The longshoremen of this port have decided that there will be no strike here, either in sympathy or otherwise with the Vancouver strikers. This was the unanimous agreement arrived at last evening at a meeting held here at which practically every longshoreman in the district was present. They agreed, however, that they will not load any ship which is considered unfair, but it is hardly likely that any "unfair" ship will call at this port, as ships are either making arrangements to load full cargo here or make this the first port of call for their lumber cargoes.

BUSINESS BOOMING
The labor troubles in Washington and Oregon are causing an unexpected boom in this port and for the first time since the American Government placed a heavy duty against Canadian lumber an American boat, the Steelmaker, has loaded a full cargo of lumber here. This order of more than 4,000,000 feet, practically all of one dimension, had been placed with the Washington mills, but the ship, being unable to load there, was diverted here. The longshoremen were well paid, as considerable overtime was worked by the men. Recently another American ship loaded here with a cargo for Alaska, being the first shipment which this port has made to the northern part of America for many years. An odd situation arose with this latter loading, as the lumber was for the building of houses for the new settlers whom Uncle Sam is endeavoring to settle in Alaska and was partly financed by the United States Government.

The local mills and shipping agents, now having the assurance that the longshoremen will continue to work are booking orders for several American ships which otherwise would have loaded in the United States. The lumber is destined for the Eastern American coast. There is every hope that this American trade will continue with this port and the American lumber trade may be revived, even when the labor troubles in Washington and Oregon are settled, as in spite of the heavy duty, it may be shown that Canadian lumber can be imported into the United States and yet compete with the American product.

DENY CHARGE
It has been pointed out by the longshoremen that they are in no way affiliated with the Vancouver union, although efforts have been made from time to time by Vancouver agents to have the local body unite. Statements made in Vancouver that the local union is ruled by the Communist party are ridiculed by the local men, as the local union is a truly Canadian organization, holding a charter direct from the Trades and Labor Congress of Ottawa, while the Vancouver union holds no such charter. With very few exceptions, the local union consists of native-born Canadians, a very large number being returned men.

The men consider that they have been treated in a proper manner by the stevedoring companies and shipping agents and any grievances which arise are readily adjusted between the two parties.

ISSUED FROM CONE
The basaltic lava issued from or near the base of a huge cone, 300 to 400 feet high, which has a crater at the top. The lava dammed back the water to form a lake a mile long. The water in places now flows beneath.

Dr. Hanson states that the soles of strong boots wear through in only a few hours' walking over the hard lava. Trees, which grow in places estimated to be 170 years old.

Dr. Hanson is organizing a party to go into the Dease Lake area, further north, with the intention of covering some 1,300 square miles east of Dease Lake and including the Tanquila River.

FRANCE PROTESTS PROPOSED TREATY

laration in April were cited, it was said, as establishing the same principle.

FRENCH CONTENTION
Since Germany's naval status was fixed by the Versailles Treaty, the French view is all signatures of this treaty must confer together on any modification which cannot be effected by a single power.

The note was said to claim a German navy such as is planned would create a grave problem for Germany's neighbors and destroy the balance of naval power established by the Washington treaty, France, it was understood to declare, in view of this, cannot continue under her naval treaty obligations and must resume freedom of the seas.

DEPENDS ON BRITAIN
LONDON, June 17 (AP)—Informed quarters said today the agreement to limit the German navy to 35 percent of that of Great Britain, by categories, made the British navy in effect the yardstick by which future German naval strength would be measured.

This, however, introduces a point which is interesting many unofficial observers, namely what would happen if some power, France for instance, decided to increase her fleet drastically? Germany, being pledged to a fixed ratio with Great Britain, could only build further if Great Britain did also.

For this reason, it is assumed, Great Britain must have assured Germany during the current naval conversations if France embarks upon naval expansion there will also be an increase in the British fleet, which would allow Germany to build up likewise.

Such an assurance presumably would not be upset by the French, because owing to the traditional Anglo-French naval amity, France would have no reason to fear the size of the British fleet.

Ottawa Scientist Describes Formations Where Lava Has Flowed Over Earth

VANCOUVER, June 17 (AP)—British Columbia experienced a volcanic eruption as recently as 300 years ago, according to Dr. George Hanson, who has arrived from Ottawa to continue work in Northern British Columbia for the Geological Survey of Canada.

Some years ago, Dr. Hanson, in the course of his work in the Nass River district, studied the geological formations in the vicinity of Lava Lake and Tsax River, and discovered a lava flow which supported to some extent an Indian legend of punishment visited upon the Nass tribe for some impiety.

DOUBLE THE TIME
The legend placed the visitation at about 150 years ago, but the lava flow indicated its age at about 300 years.

The legend told how belching flame and smoke, followed by a molten river, descended upon a prosperous Indian village on the Tsax. The Indians fled before it and reached safety, except for the comely daughter of the village headman, who tarried and was destroyed.

The lava in the area is the youngest of formations, states Dr. Hanson. It is twenty miles long and ten to fifteen miles wide and from ten feet thick to a much greater depth.

The basaltic lava issued from or near the base of a huge cone, 300 to 400 feet high, which has a crater at the top. The lava dammed back the water to form a lake a mile long. The water in places now flows beneath.

Dr. Hanson states that the soles of strong boots wear through in only a few hours' walking over the hard lava. Trees, which grow in places estimated to be 170 years old.

Dr. Hanson is organizing a party to go into the Dease Lake area, further north, with the intention of covering some 1,300 square miles east of Dease Lake and including the Tanquila River.

Gives Legal Affidavit
In a legal statement, Mrs. Paul Longway, 114 Bridge St., Guelph, testifies how Fruit-A-Lives brought quick and lasting relief from headaches and constipation. She states, "For many years I suffered from severe headaches and constipation. Then I read about Fruit-A-Lives and tried them. They brought me quick relief and I credit them with preventing recurrence of my troubles. Now I am never bothered as I used to be, for I know that Fruit-A-Lives can always make me feel fit and healthy."

Why are Fruit-A-Lives so effective? Because they are really different. The unique discovery of a famous Canadian physician, Dr. J. H. Longway, is made from extracts of apples, oranges, figs, prunes and herbs combined scientifically with certain medicinal ingredients. Easy to take, absolutely non-habit-forming. If you suffer from constipation, try them. They'll stop constipation at once.

ITALIAN POSITION

ROME, June 17 (AP)—Italy regards Germany's naval rearmament as a subject to be discussed at a conference of signatories of the Washington Naval Treaty, she informed Great Britain today.

The message was in response to a note from Great Britain, June 7, on the Anglo-German naval conversations.

The subject, the Fascist Government said, is not one to be settled through bilateral Anglo-German conversations, but in the light of the Washington treaty and subsequent naval agreements.

Italy is ready to participate in such a conference, the note said, with an open mind and a spirit of co-operation.

CASH AND CREDIT

The supporters of social credit are ever ready to refute any and every attack made on the system. Most attacks grow out of the inability of so many to understand social crediters, no so much as to what is their goal, but how it is to be attained. Their economic theory is wrapped up in an unusual number of words. Words that are simple and direct, that are understood if they cannot follow the processes of the economic arena. Perhaps Major Douglas himself is responsible. He is far from being a clear writer of the English language. It seems, indeed, as if it would be necessary for some new school of logic to be instituted to make it possible to follow the Douglas reasoning. Here is a recommendation from the Douglas report to the Albertan Government on the subject of social credit:

"Systematic organization directed to the accumulation of what, for the purpose of the report, may be termed 'foreign exchange,' i.e., effective demand not subject to attack as being recognizable as having been created within the province."

The presumption is that it is recommended that Alberta should have more money available for circulation, sound money that foreigners will accept. That is a consummation devoutly to be wished for everywhere. The point is wherein does the application to Alberta sustain the claims of social credit. The conclusion is rather that Major Douglas wants the province to have the cash and let the credit go. There is another phrase in the Major's report that wants a lot of elucidation, and that is "access to the creation of effective demand." This is to be accomplished by the creation of a credit institution. Goodness knows there are enough, too many of them now, always encouraging the people to mortgage their futures. In the meantime if social credit is to be made understandable to the masses its tenets must be couched in much clearer language.

DISSONANT VOICES

Since radio broadcasting became common a good deal more attention is being paid to the speaking voice than ever before. Even in broadcasting the process of selecting speakers has a long way yet to go before only voices are heard that will not jar on the nerves. This is an age of noise. More than one country has been canvassing ways and means to eliminate those discordant sounds which are held to be contributory to the mental unrest that prevails. Unfortunately in what is being done in this respect there is nothing being attempted to tone down jarring and biting, and coarse and discordant human voices. They are among the worse irritants of any known and the trouble always is that their possessors seem wholly unconscious of the discomfort they create. Whether raucous or flat, or dissonant in some other way, the owners are invariably talkative and never self-conscious of how they irritate by their vocal outpourings.

There are qualities in the human voice capable of cultivation, but a bad accent and a disagreeable tone seem incapable of being conquered. There are very few who try to improve themselves in this way, unless they are in vocations in which agreeable enunciation is required. In Great Britain there is a professor who chooses announcers for the British Broadcasting Corporation, and he is frequently being accused of choosing badly. There is now a competition in progress to find a "golden voice," such as that possessed by Sarah Bernhardt. The task will be difficult; it is conceivable that the winner, while fulfilling the judge's requirements, may not necessarily meet with public favor, for, as in music, there are varying opinions on what is best. Sarah Bernhardt used to describe the secret of her voice as due to a trick of resting it between its full-throated efforts. There must have been cultivation in many other ways.

The King on the microphone could give a lesson to many professional broadcasters, and yet he has never trained for that particular purpose. Mr. Stanley Baldwin when heard over the air is clearer than many actors and most fire-gymnasts. The voices in these cases are cultured, and it is perhaps culture alone which means that dissonance is impossible. The best speakers over the telephone are usually those who are inaudible to people who are in the room with them. Such voices never die of inanition. They never make their hearers think of new possibilities for the Anti-Noise League's campaign. The telephone should have proved an even more chastening influence than it is on the fashion of speaking. As to the radio, it appears to have made voices in too many instances more blatant than ever. It will be a good day for the amelioration of mental unrest when radio announcers are chosen for their "golden voices" and their ability to preserve equanimity in their utterances whatever may be the circumstances. Radio announcing as it is has far too much of a jarring effect, and for this almost invariably the human voice is responsible. The reason the world is too much with us is that it talks too much, and too often in a dissonant way.

SCIENCE AND COMMON SENSE

The ordinary man, in the activities of daily life, comes in contact with familiar things that can be perceived by the unassisted five senses, bright and dull colors, harsh and tuneful sounds, pressures, tastes and scents, cold and warmth, all the experiences of sense perception—the world of sense, in short. The physical science expert, on the other hand, works away in his laboratory among what may be thought of as the indispensable elements of matter and energy, his elusive "atoms," his electrons and protons and what not—the world of science. Which of these two worlds is nearer to reality? The contrast between the two is impressive. There is a living and moving picture, colorful and vocal; a shifting world of sensation, actual and vital, on the one hand, and a more or less mathematical dance of atoms on the other. Many are apt to suppose, and some do not hesitate to say, that the latter, the dance of atoms, is nearer to reality than the former; that the world of sense is mere appearance, while the world of science has somehow approached more nearly to, and perhaps come into actual contact with fundamental realities.

The distinction between "appearance" and "reality" is a familiar one. We commonly say that appearances are superficial; that they may be misleading and even deceptive; that we must reflect as well as observe; that reality lies deep below the surface; that the world of sense, the appearance, color and sound, are only external manifestations, the mere manifestations of an underlying reality. The question that naturally arises is this: What warrant is there for supposing that the scientist, who discourses about atoms and their rather inexplicable behaviour, has penetrated the outward appearances and disclosed the ultimate reality of things? Are these supposedly ultimate atoms really final and fundamental, or are they not also mere appearances, another aspect from a scientific point of view?

In asking this question, the plain man has rather the advantage of the scientist. He recalls the fact that not so long ago the scientist was talking about "matter" and "force," about a universe whose constituent portions were constantly attracting and repelling one another, and whose ultimate parts consisted of certain hard pellets of "matter," like extremely small billiard balls. That was the "appearance" of things as observed by the scientists until recently. Some very modern scientists, however, now present us with a very different account of the situation. To these the "real" world takes on a different "appearance." They say that the mechanical explanation of things, with "matter" and "energy" occupying two separate roles, is misleading and inaccurate.

According to the "new way" of science, matter and energy cannot be clearly distinguished. Perhaps before long the scientists may change their views and bid our bosoms dilate with joy over some atomic theory and assure us that they have truly lifted the last curtain of appearance and ushered us into the presence of the Real. In the meantime the world of the plain man is the same moving picture that suggested to his remote ancestors the problem that confronts him today, and the scientist's dancing world of atoms is a mere appearance or aspect of the reality that underlies the world of sense.

NOCTURNE IN SILVER

O what a nocturne now the twilight falls Over these fields, these meadows and these walls. The ardent colors of the day are fading fast. The world seems muted, made again of frost. The daffodils seem frosty as they lean Against the night, the grass is no more green But silver in this hour of repose. The rose were silver if there were a rose. The gardens dream in liveries of dusk And scent seems heavy as the scent of musk. Simply seems actual, the breast Of the first robin in a silver nest Is silver too. Upon what wild distaff Is spun this twilight? Learning like a staff Of silver is the wellspring in the field. Another world of beauty is revealed. And looking upward past the hills, on high The very stars are silver in the sky. —Harold Vinall, in The Christian Science Monitor.

MONEY POLICY

The whole tenor of the Chancellor's speech shows clearly both that the ultimate objective of British monetary policy is the return to gold and that any delay in the return of the pound sterling would be in the highest degree unlikely. It is no use "to try to anchor a ship if the anchorage is always shifting." It would be futile, as both Lord Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain said, to attempt to bring about stabilization until we can see some prospect of stability of conditions after stabilization has taken place.—London Financial Times.

We exaggerate misfortune and happiness alike. We are never either so wretched or so happy as we say we are.—Baalzac.

Note and Comment

I. R. B. D.

We should not live and labor in our time that what came to us as seed may go to the next generation as blossom, and that what came to us as blossom may go to them as fruit. That is what we mean by progress.—Beecher.

It is no new thing to say human nature is peculiar. It is so old that it has become a platitude. One of the most peculiar of the peculiarities of human nature is that in the battles of life—all kinds of battles, from politics to prize fights—the sympathies of the multitude are sometimes on the side of the weak and sometimes on the side of the strong. This peculiarity has been exemplified in all stages of what we choose to call civilization. It was exemplified ages ago, according to a historian and poet, when there was an epic battle between the weak and the strong and when "even the ranks of Tuscany could scarce forbear to cheer."

We have seen it displayed when a bulldog had an animal not of a fighting breed in a death grip and sympathetic spectators resorted to all sorts of methods, mostly ineffective, until one resourceful mediator thought of red pepper, there was a snort and the deadly jaws relaxed.

According to latest advice from Ottawa, the forces of the embattled farmers of Western Canada and the ranks of the speculators at home and abroad have for several years been struggling for control of grain prices. There are differences of opinion as to who hit the first blow in a fight which promises to become historic in its significance and its result. The grain dealers in Liverpool claim the wheat pools struck the first blow. At the time the fight began, we expressed our opinion that the pools had been indiscreet, because by their actions they were likely to create a prejudice in Great Britain against Canadian wheat. Now that the farmer has been proved to be the underdog, fighting for what has come to be called a "living wage," we have switched our sympathies to the side of the farmer.

In the business of agriculture there is a commodity known as cream and a by-product known as skim milk. If it is true that the speculators have been skimming off all the cream and leaving the producers merely skimmed milk, all the resources of governments should be applied, at least within the limits of the realm of economics, to effect a reformation. The fat should not all go to the middle men or the end men, as the case may be, and all the lean to the primary producer. It may be true that the wheat grower had his day of prosperity when he rode around in motor cars and mislaid his time in living picture houses, but that condition has changed. The speculator is now strutting around the streets and bellying on the exchanges arrayed in striped trousers and silk hats and taking his pleasure in bigger motor cars than the grower ever possessed.

It has been said, and there is some reason for the saying, that governments should not interfere with or attempt to regulate businesses. But it has been charged on the authority of the Prime Minister, that speculators in wheat have conspired to rig or regulate the market for their own profit and to the disadvantage of the wheat producers. If that is true, the farmer is the underdog, and if it is possible by any measure to release the actual worker from the stranglehold of the speculator, Parliament will be justified in adopting such measures. Therefore our sympathies are now entirely on the weaker side. The ways of business have become so complex these days that the old law of supply and demand, no longer applies for the purpose of keeping open the channels of trade.

Sometimes we have been tempted to indulge in a flutter of speculation, not on any of the exchanges, but about the exchanges. We remember asking anybody who cared to answer what would happen to business if there were no stock exchanges. We also remember suggesting that it would be an interesting experiment to close up all the exchanges and to let the business of trading in commodities revert to old and natural channels. But we were told that could not be done. We believe a great authority like Sir Josiah Stamp said that if the Winnipeg Grain Exchange were closed, the result would be disastrous to the business of marketing wheat. The farmers are interested in the marketing of wheat, but we are told the farmers are jubilant at the idea of the closing of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, which is possible if Parliament would adopt the measure it is now debating.

We are not interested, and the majority of the people of Canada are not concerned, about what may be done to the grain exchange or the speculators on that exchange. We are all concerned about relief for the farmers and about the prosperity of the country.

perity of Canada, for the truth has been demonstrated that there is a close relation between the condition of agriculture and general prosperity. There is a crisis in the affairs of Canada, and it is not altogether a political crisis; it digs down deeper than politics, and it will not be effectively met by a general election.

He Likes His Broom—

Harold Pendray, chief dispatcher at the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, on north way of keeping his police dog clean in town. Some people worry, but Harold has one of those twenty-four-inch bristle brooms and he sweeps the dog off at frequent intervals. The dog likes it, too, for when the act was seen, the big fellow was grinning like one of the Marx Brothers. —W. J. H.

Grow Your Own Boulevard

Here is a civic suggestion that is bound to arouse the ire of those who guard the city budget, but nevertheless it is offered for what it is worth. If the city wishes to enhance its beauty, how about installing a broom on each street? The city could provide the seed free if the resident does the work. Incidentally the money expended on brooms would be repaid by increased consumption of water. —R. A. G.

They Talked Straight Then

Cautious and to the point were newspaper editorials three-quarters of a century ago. Says the editor of The British Colonist in the issue of May 20, 1889: "We notice more than one official appointed to a post in British Columbia, dancing about town—hands in pockets and keeping up the dog's head as they go. The times are very hard just now, and in a young colony idleness is not very fashionable. If the pay is poor, there is no reason why the dog should be kept up. Few nowadays heed the advice contained in the last sentence.—G. B.

Not Fire Water, Though!

Quite unwittingly, Trustee Percy George became paradoxical at the last meeting of the city school board. The various trustees were discussing the council's refusal to grant the board a fifty per cent reduction on its water rates, when Trustee George "piped" up that it had been a burning question for years. "If the matter," he said, "had been brought to the council in that light, it might consider the request more favorably, or at least call out the fire engines.—P. C. R.

Just Like a Movie

All the slapstick comedy is not in the movies as two elderly women can testify. They were walking along Fort Street, between Vancouver and Cook Streets, recently and passed a garden in which a woman was arranging to water the lawn. She had adjusted the nozzle of the hose in the handle of a fork, stuck in the ground. When she went to turn the water on, the pressure displaced the nozzle and a stream of water splashed full on the face of one of the women, and then, altering its direction, saturated the other woman. We did not wait to hear the exchange pleasantries, for we understood that even if women can become vituperative at times, however, you can imagine their embarrassment. Out of respect to them we refrained from laughing until out of hearing distance.—P. C. R.

Just a Suggestion

One has only to see the great number of people who make a pilgrimage to the Ross Bay Cemetery every Sunday afternoon by street car, their arms laden with flowers, to realize what the cheap fares of the B.C. Electric mean to those without motor cars who wish to tend the graves of loved ones. When the Royal Oak Burial Ground was first opened, did you think of the difficulty of getting there? Already there are 3,000 graves at the park, and if the time some people have to think twice before they spend even a few cents on a street car fare, how much more impossible, therefore, is the forty or fifty-cent bus charge to the Royal Oak and back! Might we suggest that the city and three municipalities, the Chamber of Commerce, the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, and perhaps some of our benevolently-minded weather relief camps have created a temporary evasion of the real problem which faces Canada. How, in a country rich in all material resources, can you so utilize all the labor available that it will receive adequate compensation? Can this be achieved under any economic order functioning through the motive of profit and under the control of private interests? Our young men have a right to useful and remunerative employment. They would be unworthy of all our traditions.

Another New Block—Another handsome and commodious block of stores and offices are being erected on the northern corner of Government and Broughton Streets, for W. Hamill. The design of these buildings was furnished by D. R. Harris, Esq., and the brickwork is in charge of B. T. Ripley. The excellence of the workmanship is thereby insured. All the materials used in the construction are of native growth or manufacture. This block was commenced in the latter part of May, and it is to be three stories high, and built of brick and terra cotta. It will contain a frontage of forty-eight feet and a depth of fifty-two feet. The stores will front on Government Street, and will have handsome solid plate-glass windows. The office entrances will be on Broughton Street. The building is being built on every foot and the building throughout will be furnished with all modern improvements that art can suggest and modern prices. It is expected that this block, if not already owned, is expected to be so before its completion.

School Trustees.—Dr. M. Chambers yesterday sent his resignation as school trustee to Mr. Prov. Superintendent of Education. Mr. Chambers was elected on Tuesday to fill the one-year term for Johnson Street ward. His reason for resigning is said to be a supposed lack of appreciation by his constituents for his past services, which have certainly been valuable.

AMBULANCE CORPS

Sir,—Since my letter was inserted in your columns, the formation of a voluntary ambulance corps, I have spoken to many who believe that Victoria should have one, and by all appearances a strong corps could be formed comprising ladies and gentlemen who are qualified to be welcomed. Such a corps would first aid people in need of medical attention (nothing to do with military or naval authorities), but a body which would be rated as valuable to the general public. The needs of employers, organizers of meetings, sporting organizations and the city authorities could be fulfilled by application to the corps. Such a corps would not be asked for fees, or expected to bear expense, so I appeal to all qualified first aid people and nurses to send their names to me immediately, and if sufficient in number, I shall arrange a meeting as soon as possible.

ISLAND DEVELOPMENT

Sir,—The Colonist is to be congratulated on its policy of better terms for Vancouver Island, also Bruce McKelvie for the able way in which he is putting his facts over.

May I suggest it seems almost like a ray of sunshine for this Island the municipal council and other organizations are responding to The Colonist's daily publicity.

Let us bury our local hatchets and set behind this movement and help develop the wonderful attractions and the great resources of this Island.

Vancouver Island is not about "gone for," as they say in Vancouver, but we have allowed our resources to be milked dry for Mainland development projects.

RELIEF CAMPS

Sir,—Your article in today's issue on the relief camps and the attitude of Major-General Ashton, given to the Local Council of Women on Monday last, seem to me to ignore the fundamental objection which was felt and expressed by many people. That objection lay in the simple fact that the camps were administered by the Department of Militia and Defence. To the average labor man this was a sinister association. In view of the new programme of public works, under strict military supervision, in our European countries, he had reason to believe that the Canadian policy savored of fascism and to fear that, in case of war, all members of the camps would be automatically conscripted. The virtual denial of the franchise to campers gave this fear added significance. Fascism is to be feared even more than Communism, which, in its ruthless suppression of freedom of thought and expression and its exaltation of the state, it has so much in common.

No one seriously asserted that the camps were a necessary evil, or that the men were not well fed, but it must have been gratifying to learn, as Major-General Ashton proved conclusively, that the conditions at the camps were not so bad as those enjoyed by the inmates of our penitentiaries, with the added advantage, if one were willing to risk starvation, of freedom.

The commission's report, which "scathingly criticized" certain conditions at the camps, indicates clearly that the agitation against them was not without basis. But why, if we are to assume such camps are a necessary evil, could they not have been administered by the Department of Labor rather than that of militia. No policy could have been better calculated to promote the camps, and to which all the disaffection is attributed, than to place this scheme of relief under the military wing of the Government.

When the question was debated in Ottawa it was urged that the Department of Militia had facilities for handling large bodies of men in camps. Facilities, under any other department would scarcely have cost more, and would not have aroused the same antagonism.

Your supposition that those who have left the camps have obtained employment is gratifying, but is there data to support it? Hosts of young men are still looking for jobs. Relief camps have created a temporary evasion of the real problem which faces Canada. How, in a country rich in all material resources, can you so utilize all the labor available that it will receive adequate compensation? Can this be achieved under any economic order functioning through the motive of profit and under the control of private interests? Our young men have a right to useful and remunerative employment. SOCIAL CREDIT
Sir,—Your editorial, "Social Credit in Alberta," has many points of interest, but I have no intention of basing upon fact which I hope you will be kind enough to allow me to contest.

You say, apropos of Major Douglas' suggestion that the Alberta Government, if it undertakes to provide a "social credit" plan for that province should also provide a new circulation system; "apparently the way to social credit is to go into the newspaper and radio business."

Nothing of the sort is suggested. Major Douglas says in words to the effect that he who runs may read between the lines that any government that sets out to challenge the power of financial dominance should assure itself of direct means of keeping the people informed of its intentions and acts. There is no suggestion, as you infer, for a "monopoly" of radio and press for the dissemination of theories; newspapers and radio stations could continue to disseminate, as at present, fact or fancy about anything, but Major Douglas, after twelve years of world-wide press misrepresentation of his proposals, may be pardoned for believing that one of the first acts of a government engaged in economic reform should be to have a direct means of communication with the people. Regular radio broadcasts, in the event of any widespread misrepresentation, would appear to be the solution.

Then you infer that a government cannot accumulate foreign exchange "until it wipes out its debt." This is an error of fact. Every sovereign government in the world accumulates foreign exchange at one time or other, without reference to its debt. Then, again, you suggest that, if a government cannot issue currency it cannot accumulate foreign exchange; the answer is that one does not secure foreign exchange by issuing currency.

As for Major Douglas' report to the Alberta Government, it has not yet been made. But the interim report to which you refer is a document of such solid wisdom that those anxious to discredit it, for reasons

Mount Sicker Mines To Be Reopened if Financing Succeeds

Tyce Consolidated Plans Erection of 100-Ton Mill to Handle Ores From Old Lenora, Tyce and Richard III Properties

WITH the necessary financing for a 100-ton mill practically assured and sufficient ore already blocked out to insure steady operation for two years, prospects for an early reopening of the Mount Sicker mining camp, now controlled by the Tyce Consolidated Mining Company, Limited, appear exceptionally bright.

Approximately $10,000 has been spent by the company since last October clearing out the old workings, repairing roads and completing exploration on the properties in readiness for the installation of a mill, for which financing is now proceeding.

THREE MAIN MINES

The three main mines, already tunneled and stoped, are the Lenora, the Tyce and the Richard III, situated on Mount Sicker, midway between Duncan and Ladysmith on Vancouver Island. These mines were abandoned more than thirty years ago by the operators. The Lenora was worked through tunnels with gravity drainage and haulage; the other two properties by shafts, hoisting and pumping.

Records and history of the three mines indicate the properties were not abandoned because of the lack of ore bodies, but because of the inability to profitably carry on production. The three mines were operated by independent groups, with separate overhead costs.

EXISTING ORE BODY

Engineers, who visited the property on Sunday, reported the old mine workings in good condition, geological and physical conditions favorable, and indications that reports on existing ore bodies were

This Camera Sees All Ways at Once

MUNICH, June 17 (AP)—An invention which may revolutionize aerial photography has been perfected by an optical firm here, it was announced today.

The new camera, designed to take panoramic views from the air, is equipped with eight lenses whose combined range embraces the entire terrain at all points of the compass.

At an altitude of 15,000 feet it is possible to photograph an area of 220 square miles, the manufacturers claimed.

REBUILD CAMPS

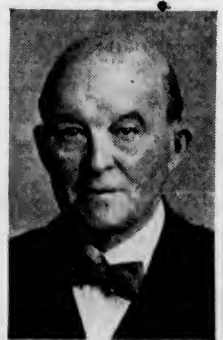

The company will rebuild the old camps on the Tyce, the estimate of cost being around $1,500. It is also the intention of the company to rebuild the hotel on the Lenora property at a cost of $2,500. The roadway up the side of Mount Sicker is in good condition for smaller types of automobiles, which can, without difficulty, reach the Lenora mine. A large number of visitors have been on the property in the past two weeks.

The provisional officers and directors of the company are: Oliver Beane, president; P. E. Peterson, M.E., managing director; Frank L. Burkle, vice-president; E. W. Miller, director, and J. M. Condy, secretary.

The financial structure of the company is: Authorized, 2,000,000 shares; issued for property, equipment and development work completed (in escrow), 900,000 shares; new issue, 600,000 shares; to remain in treasury, 600,000 shares. The company is N.P.L. and registered under the Securities Act of the Province.

James Parfitt Re-elected President Of Victoria Exchange—President's Report

James Parfitt was last night re-elected president of the Victoria Builders' Exchange at its annual meeting, held in Spencer's dining room. J. W. Anderson was re-appointed vice-president, and W. J. Hamilton was returned as secretary-treasurer.

Directors for the year were elected as follows: E. J. Cox, A. R. Frew, R. Hurst, J. V. Johnson, W. A. Luney, W. R. Menzies, A. McKinty, A. McAulay, I. McCallum and W. Prichard. Mr. McCallum was the only new appointment to the board of directors.

This report of the year's activities, Mr. Parfitt gave the exchange credit for sponsoring the idea of a Federal Government building programme here. The association had, during the past year, succeeded in having a minimum wage law set for the building industry. Mr. Parfitt also reported that members of the exchange were working with civic officials to prepare a revised slate of building by-laws for the city.

The financial statement was presented by Mr. Hamilton. Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands and Municipalities, was guest speaker. Entertainment was furnished by F. Townsend and George H. E. Greene.

Canadian-American Institute Culminates Educationists' Study

Pioneering Gathering of University Delegates to Explore Social, Economic, Political, Intellectual Activity of Canada and United States

CANTON, N.Y., June 17 (AP)—A pioneering Institute of Canadian-American Relations, the first ever held on United States soil, opened at St. Lawrence University tonight, culminating two years of study and research by educationists in thirty-nine universities on both sides of the border.

Nearly 100 of the 150 or more General Electric Company, pre-delegates who are expected during the week of discussion had arrived tonight for the opening dinner. They were welcomed by Dr. Richard Eddy Sykes, president of St. Lawrence, and Dr. W. H. Fife, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario.

St. Lawrence, the Carnegie endowment for international peace, and Queen's University are co-sponsors of the gathering, which will explore social, economic, political and intellectual activity of the two countries.

WE ENGINEER EVERY SAFETY FACTOR INTO OUR CARS except two — ROAD AND DRIVER
This advertisement is the fifth of a series, pointing out how you can meet us half-way in making Canada's streets and highways safer.

How DRIVING STRAIN Imperils Your Safety

HAVE you ever noticed how some motorists seem to drive without the least effort, while others make real work out of driving? "Driving strain" often makes the difference. Poor headlights, or a dusty and spotted windshield, tire our eyes and wear us down faster than we realize. Muscular strain develops when the steering gear needs lubrication—when pedals work hard—or brakes are so worn that every stop is an effort. The whole body is fatigued when the car rides roughly or noisily. And then we sometimes find our eyes wandering off the road ahead.

Thus, safety depends a great deal on the care we give the car—as well as on whether the car itself offers the "tremendous trifles" that enable us to drive easily... and therefore safely.

... the little things that make driving much easier... built into General Motors Cars and approved by 90,000 Canadians

BEFORE we ever lifted a tool on our new 1935 cars, we had the practical ideas and suggestions of more than 90,000 Canadians to "okay" our designs. One thing that stood out in the answers motorists gave to our questions about car design was the importance of the little things that lessen driving strain. "Tremendous trifles" you might call them. Drivers' seats that are quickly and easily adjustable. Arm rests in the front of the car as well as in the back. Door handles that will not catch in your sleeves. Draftless ventilation. Accelerator, brake and clutch pedals that are really comfortable. The extra safety you sense in driving a General Motors car is partly the result of the many "little" conveniences that set your mind, as well as your body, restfully at ease.

CARDIGAN

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

CHAPTER XXXVIII

The British discharged their pistols, a few of them followed us, but all pursuit ceased below Prospect Hill. We galloped unmolested into the old Charlestown, and West Cambridge Road, and flew onward through the night.

As we rode, from behind us the sound of bells came quivering across dim meadows; out of the blue night, bells answered; we heard the report of guns, the distant clatter of a horn blowing persistently from some hidden hamlet.

"The alarm!" panted Foxcroft, at my elbow as we pounded on. "Hurray! Hurray! The country lives!"

"Ring! Ring out your bells!" we shouted, as we tore through a sleeping village, and behind us we could see candle-light break out from the dark houses and hear the clangor of the meeting-house bell as it began swinging, warning the distant farms that the splendid hour had come.

But we dared not ride through the dark town of Lexington, not knowing but that it might be swarming with dragons. We decided to let down fence rails and cut across the fields to gain the Bedford Road.

Mr. Foxcroft piloted us. As I rode by his side I could scarce believe that, yonder, close at hand in the darkness, Silver Heels slept.

We crossed a stony pasture and came finally to a narrow lane, lined with hazel. The lane conducted us to an orchard, and through the trees I saw the moon shining on the portico of a white mansion.

We led our horses through a weedy garden up to the neglected portico. There was a light in the house. We tied our hard-blown horses to the fluted wooden pillars of the portico, and, stepping to the door, rapped heavily.

After a long time, pattering, uncertain steps sounded inside the hallway. The door opened to its full width. In the flaming candle-light stood a little old man.

It was the Weasel!

On his wasted face a brittle smile flickered.

"Cade!" whispered Mount. "Cade old friend! How came you here?" The Weasel's eyes turned on Mount with no light of recognition in them.

"You are welcome, sir," said Cade Renard, in the ghost of his old voice. "I pray you enter, gentlemen; we keep open house, ay yes—you are welcome to Cambridge Hall; believe me, most welcome."

"My servants must be in their hall," he said, without embarrassment. "But pray, gentlemen, follow me."

Leading us into a great room, bare save for a few chairs, he begged us to be seated, then seated himself, and fell a-babbling of ancient days.

And all the while Jack Mount sat staring with tear-moored eyes, great fists clasped convulsively, and Saul Shemuel huddled close to me, and Foxcroft leaned, elbow on knee, keen eyes watching the little madman.

"What in heaven's name is he doing here?" I whispered to Foxcroft. "Quiet," motioned Foxcroft, turning his head to listen.

Then out of the wavering shadows, into the candle-light, stepped a young girl.

"Silver Heels! Silver Heels!" I cried, with a sob.

"Do you want me—now?" she whispered.

I caught her fiercely in my arms; she clung to me with closed eyes.

And, as we stood there, I heard the measured gallop of a horse on the highway, coming nearer, nearer, turning now close outside the house, and now thundering up to the porch.

Instantly Jack Mount and

Shemuel glided from the room;

Foxcroft silently drew his pistol; I reached for my rifle and turned smiling to Silver Heels.

"Do you know who is coming?" I asked.

"Yes."

I stepped to the centre of the room. The door opened gently, and there in the moonlight stood

Walter Butler.

He hesitated on the threshold, dazzled by the candle; then, like lightning, his sword glittered in his hand, but Mount, behind him, tore the blade from his grip and flung it ringing at my feet. Butler stood there confronting us, his blank eyes traveling from one to another, his thin lips twitching in an ever-deepening sneer.

"Something is dreadfully wrong, gentlemen," quavered poor Cade

Renard. "This is Captain Butler,

my daughter's affianced."

Mount quickly drew the little man to the door and led him out, saying tenderly: "All is well, old friend.

You have forgotten much in these long days. You will remember soon.

Suddenly Butler turned on Silver

Heels, his face distorted.

"That—she—devil swore to wed me!" he broke out hoarsely, pointing a shaking finger full at Silver

Heels. "She—swore it!" His voice sank to a hiss.

"To save my father from a high-wayman's death," said Silver Heels, deadly white.

A cold fury blinded so I could scarcely see Butler. I cocked my rifle and drew my hand across my eyes to clear them.

"This is not your quarrel," he said desperately. "This woman is the daughter of Cade Renard, a notorious highwayman, known as the Weasel. I doubt that you, Sir

Michael Cardigan—for you, uncle, is dead, whether you know it or not—would care to claim kinship in this house. Would you wed the Weasel's child?"

And she, were the child of Tom o' Bedlam, she is still betrothed to me. I know not," I said, "whether you be human or demon, and so perhaps you may not burn in hell, but I shall send you thither very soon."

And I laid my hand on his arm, and asked him if he were minded to die quietly in the garden, while

Mount grimly pushed him toward the door.

"Do you mean it?" he burst out, shuddering. "Am I not to have a chance for life? This is murder,

Mr. Cardigan!"

"So dealt you by me at the Cayuga stake," I said.

"Yet—it is murder you do. If my hands are not clean, would you foul your own?"

"Give him his sword!" I cried passionately. "I cannot breathe while he draws breath! Give him his sword or I will slay him with naked hands!"

"No!" roared Foxcroft, hurling me back.

Then he stooped, seized the hilt of Butler's sword and snapped the blade in two, casting the fragments from him in contempt.

"The sword of a scoundrel!" he said. "The sword of a petty male-factor—a pitiful forger!"

"Liar!" shrieked Butler, springing at him.

Mount flung the maddened man into a chair, where he lay, white and panting, staring at Foxcroft, who now stood by the table, coolly examining a packet of documents

he had drawn from an inner pocket.

"It is all here," he said—"the story of two cheap dabblers in petty crime—Sir John Johnson and Mr.

Walter Butler—how they did conspire to steal from Miss Warren her wealth, her fair name and the very name God gave her."

"Liar!" muttered Butler again, between ashen lips.

IN FINE DRAMA

"The Informer" Features New English Actress, Margot Grahame—Supporting Cast Good

Reaching supreme heights in characterization and in strength of emotional appeal, RKO-Radio's "The Informer," showing at the Dominion Theatre today, ranks as one of the most powerful dramas ever brought to the screen.

Superbly enacted by a brilliant cast, the picture, under the directorial genius of John Ford, brings to vivid, unforgettable life the characters and scenes of Liam O'Flaherty's widely-read and much-discussed novel.

In the role of "The Informer," Victor McLaglen reaches even greater heights with his universally-praised performance in "The Lost Patrol."

A brilliant addition to the roster of a Hollywood talent is Margot Grahame, blonde star of the English stage and cinema. She gives a magnificent performance as a woman who clings to her man through storm and strife. Other sterling performances are con-

AMUSEMENTS

Capitol—Fredric March in "Les Misérables."

Dominion—Victor McLaglen in "The Informer."

Playhouse—"Henry VIII," starring Charles Laughton.

tributed by Preston Foster, Heather Angel, Wallace Ford, Una O'Connor, J. M. Kerrigan and Donald Meek.

PLAYHOUSE Charles Laughton raised his own beard to play the role of the King in "The Private Life of Henry VIII." Curiously enough, it grew of its own accord in the design worn by England's greatest monarch, and required practically no barbering to make Laughton resemble almost identically Holbein's famous portrait of Henry VIII. This comedy drama of a king's life with his many wives is now at the Playhouse Theatre.

COLUMBIA Florence Reed, appearing this week at the Columbia Theatre in Universal's splendid filmization of Charles Dickens' "Great Expectations," made more than thirty silent pictures some years ago. Among her directors then were George Fitzmaurice, Herbert Brenson and John M. Stahl, who is now a leading director with Universal, where Miss Reed met him for the first time in fifteen years.

CAPITOL Victor Hugo's immortal classic, "Les Misérables," was brought to the screen of the Capitol Theatre on Saturday in Darryl Zanuck's lavish production of the novel for 20th Century Pictures, starring Fredric March, Charles Laughton and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, under the direction of Richard Boleslawski.

COPPING OPERATED ON

Copping, Arsenal's international left half, has been operated on for removal of a cartilage. The operation was satisfactory.

NEW YORK, June 17.—I have been collecting autographed pictures to decorate a room—pictures of old-established friends of whom I am especially fond and whose talents I admire. Some of the messages scrawled across them are warming. Still others a bit insulting, the mugs!

I asked for no one's photograph whose friendship had not undergone a test. They will be racked in a nautilus where, when my ship comes in, I expect to spend much time in leisurely writing and philosophic contemplation. It will be a room with an open fireplace that burns real logs.

Shuffling through them before they went to the framer I can be pardoned a glow of pride. With one or two exceptions all are around my size and all started from scratch. There are no silk stockings or golden spooned lads. All had the chance of American democracy bestowed and took advantage of them.

In the display will be Sinclair Lewis, Rupert Hughes, Irvin Cobb, John McCormack, Rube Goldberg, Paul Whiteman, Will Rogers, Theodore Dreiser, Roy Howard, Grantland Rice, Charles G. Norris, William Gaston Will Hays, Courtney Ryley Cooper, Jack Dempsey and too many more to enumerate. But that gives the range.

Not many writers can approach the subject of friendship and veer around without pausing for a panegyric. And I am no exception. Every one believes his friends mean more to him than friends to anyone else. I'm no exception to that either. So far as I know I have no false friends. There's not one who has not done more for me, graciously and unasked, than I for him. What so many call "fucky breaks" have been in my case the fruits of friendly gestures, many times anonymous I did not learn the source for years. Some of the minor overtures are as warming as the big ones.

There's Jack Dempsey, who, enduring the biff-bang rigors of a barn-storming tour, heard he was within fifty miles of my town. He made an arduous trip over rough roads at night to visit it for an hour in the morning, losing sleep that he needed. Somehow one does not associate that with a mailer

Also that bluest of blue days when the whole existence seemed a pointless fiasco. An accumulation of despair made the future chaotic. Things would never be right again. In almost telepathic spontaneity there came a cable from London reading: "Are you all right?—Bill." It was from Will Hays, who had miraculously, I thought, taken time out from busy conferences to radiate light in a dark place.

Too, that lonely first day when a rather fat job had just been shot from under me. I was trying for a toe-hold on the copy desk of The Evening Mail. About quitting time a fellow effervescent enthusiasm and vitality came over and introduced himself. He didn't, of course, have to tell me he was the best-known cartoonist of his time, Rube Goldberg, or did he have to invite me to ride up-town in his stumpy green roadster. But he did. And unknowingly renewed my waning courage immeasurably. So I could overflow many columns of that splendid and simple acts of graciousness that mean so much in retrospect—fidelities that make a lifelong debtor to Webster, Bob Brinkerhoff, Ryley Cooper, Gene Buck, Floyd Gibbons, etc., and to two who are gone, Will Hays and Arthur Roche.

That's why I want their likenesses strung around the wall so that in the gloaming the flicker from a back-log will dance an illumination upon them. And provide inspiration for those looking-back vistas from the easy chair that widen our horizons and bring us so "realistically" near something that looms, then suddenly trembles away. The borderland of that something that may encompass the unattained possibility to which we are all groping—eternal friendship.

STIPE'S HOMER
BEATS SAILORS

Circuit Drive in Seventh
Frame With One On Givies
Tillicums 5-3 Victory

WALLY STIPE'S circuit smash to right field in the seventh inning with highest occupying first base, brought the Tillicums through to a 5-3 victory over the Navy, yesterday evening at the Royal Athletic Park in a Victoria and District Commercial League fixture. The telling blow came with two men out and broke up a 3-3 deadlock.

Tillicums collected a total of twelve base knocks from the combined offerings of Kennedy and Parker, while the best that the sailors could do to the slants that Lloyd Jones, southpaw ace, tossed up to them was to garner three safe bingles. However, these were good for three hits and kept the Navy right in the old ball game until Stipe's timely four-base hit in the seventh frame.

The sailors played an improved brand of ball in the field, but their offensive, against Jones' hurling, was weak.

DRIVEN FROM MOUND

Kennedy, big right-hander, started on the mound for the sailors but was driven from the hill in the fourth frame. Parker replaced him, but failed to hold the clubmen in check.

Lloyd Jones twirled his best ball of the season. In addition to limiting the sailors to three safeties, he fanned sixteen.

The sailors played an improved brand of ball in the field, but their offensive, against Jones' hurling, was weak.

KER ELECTED

RUGBY PREXY

Well-Known Local Figure
Named President of British Columbia Union

Victoria's well-known figure in English Rugby, Russell Ker, former president of the Victoria Union, was chosen prexy of the British Columbia Rugby Union at a special meeting of the provincial executive held recently on the Mainland. Maurice Crehan, Vancouver, was named first vice-president, and Arthur H. Cox, Victoria, second vice-president. G. C. Oswald, Vancouver, is the honorary treasurer, and H. J. Ketchen, Victoria, was re-elected honorary secretary.

The executive officers make up the entire board for the province. A new constitution was drafted at the gathering and tentative plans were discussed for the coming season, during which the touring New Zealand fifteen is expected to play here on its return of an invasion of the Old Country in February. Other prospects are in the air, including a visit from Edinburgh University, which has been extended an invitation to visit California. If the Scotchmen visit the Coast they will be brought to the province for a series of games with Victoria and Vancouver fifteens.

G. GAY LANDS
BIGGEST FISH

Carries Off First Prize in Poodle Dog Cafe Competition at Brentwood

Landing a thirty-four-and-one-half-pound salmon, the largest of the thirty-eight fish weighed in at the official scales, George Gay, local fisherman, carried off first honors Sunday at Brentwood in the Poodle Dog Cafe competition. In addition to winning a split cane rod, the first prize, Gay also won the silver button given by the association.

William Lucas caught a twenty-and-one-half-pound fish to take a salmon trolling reel, second prize, and in addition won a bronze button presented by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

When he hooked a nineteen-pound salmon, F. Codrane carried off third prize, a 900-foot wire line, while J. Bowcott won the fourth prize, a tackle box, for his catch of eighteen-and-one-half pounds.

WINS SPECIAL PRIZE

Miss V. Catton, who landed a fifteen-pound fish, won the special prize for the woman angler landing the biggest fish. Consolation prizes were won by Eric Holoyak and M. Woods, the latter received a 600-foot wire line, and the former three spoons.

A quart thermos bottle, for the largest fish caught from a rowboat, was won by E. Wells, who caught an eleven-and-one-quarter-pound salmon.

The winners of the R. P. Thompson prize were J. A. Macdonald, Sam Bell and J. P. Hall.

President F. E. W. Smith presented the prizes, and Mrs. Smith, his wife, cut the birthday cake, donated by McLean's bakery, and marking the third birthday of the association.

Frank Moore and George Hibberd, of the tackle committee, were in charge of the competition, and Bill Rowe acted as official weigher.

The next competition to be held by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, is billed for Sunday, June 30. W. B. Christopher and George Laird will be the members of the tackle committee.

Chuck Klein Drives Out Two Homers as Cubs Down Dodgers

Former Circuit King of National League Plays Big Part in Team's 5-3 Victory—Giants Whip Cardinals, 14-3—Braves Take Two From Reds—Cleveland Triumphs

NATIONAL LEAGUE
BROOKLYN, June 17 (AP)—Two home runs by Chuck Klein, his eighth and ninth of the season, supplied the margin between victory and defeat for the Cubs today as they defeated the Dodgers for the third time in succession, 5 to 3.

Each circuit sawt came after Freddy Lindstrom had nicked George Earnshaw for a single, one in the second and one in the ninth, and together they spoiled a well-pitched game for the Brooklyn right hander.

DEAN BADLY TREATED
NEW YORK, June 17 (AP)—The Giants pummeled everything their former nemesis, Paul Dean, could lose at them today and treated Rookie Ray Hapel just as badly to trounce the Cardinals for the third straight time, 14 to 3.

In all they piled up nineteen assorted hits, eleven of them on the younger Dean in the first four innings. Hal Schumacher was a bit wobbly at the start, allowing three hits for one run in the opening inning and letting another score on a wild pitch in the second, but that didn't matter after the New York sluggers got into action.

BUS TROUCE PHILLIES
PHILADELPHIA, June 17 (AP)—The Pirates pummeled three Philadelphia hurlers for twenty-two hits and a 12-to-3 triumph today in the third game of their series.

BERGER HITS HEAVY
BOSTON, June 17 (AP)—Wally Berger's terrific slugging today paced the lowly Boston Braves to a Bunker Hill Day twin victory over the Cincinnati Reds by 8-3 and 5-1 margins.

Berger lashed out his tenth homer of the season against Gene Schott with a mate on in the seventh inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and poked out another four-bagger on the relieving Ed Hollingsworth in the next frame with two on base.

In the second game, Berger got a triple and a single against Paul Derringer. He got four hits for twelve bases and drove in a total of six runs.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
CLEVELAND, June 17 (AP)—The Indians made it four out of five today by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 10 to 2.

The victory enabled the Tribe to go into a tie for third place with Detroit because of the latter's idleness, due to wet grounds.

Pitcher Oral Hildebrand held the Sox to six widely-scattered hits. Pitcher Gordon Rhodes, for Boston, was forced to retire in the fourth inning because of an injured finger, sustained when he deflected Knickerbocker's single to Williams earlier in the inning.

Homer by Averill in the third with one man on base and one by Campbell in the sixth with two on, helped the Tribe clinch its victory.

Germany Defeat Australians in Davis Cup Play

BERLIN, June 17 (AP)—Germany eliminated Australia in the third round of the Davis Cup matches yesterday, defeating the Aussies, 3-2, in a five-set match.

McGrath's valiant stand against the hard-hitting German was unexpected. Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist staged off elimination for Australia Saturday when they defeated Hans Denker and K. A. Lund, 6-1, 11-9, 6-3.

Germany gained a clean sweep in the singles matches when Heiner Henkel downed Jack Crawford, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7, 4-6, 6-4.

PAINTER NEW CHAMPION AT GORGE LINKS

Youngster Scores 12, and 10 Decision Over Allen in Club Final

KEEPING close to perfect figures all the way, Freddy Painter won the men's championship of the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday by defeating H. H. Allen, the medalist, in the scheduled thirty-six hole final, 12 and 10, one of the most decisive victories ever hung up at the popular battleground. Painter succeeded Walter Newcombe as titleholder, the latter being erased from the list of contenders in the semifinals.

Allen tried desperately to make a match of it in the early stages, but after halving the opening three holes, Painter swung into the lead by taking four holes in succession to reach the eighth, four up. Allen won the ninth, and the quarter distance was ended with his much younger opponent still three up. Painter won the tenth, eleventh and twelfth to go six up, halved the next two and then continued to increase his margin by taking the next three holes to be nine up at the halfway mark.

Painter went out in 39 and back in 36, one over par, while Allen had an outgoing card of 42 and came back to the clubhouse in 43. The youngster never let up and won the nineteenth, halved the next, and went eleven up by taking the twenty-first. A par four gave him the next hole, but Allen stepped in and took the twenty-third, halved the next two and then poked up on the twenty-sixth and the match was all over.

FLIGHT FINALS
E. Colgate won first-flight honors from P. Freeman by 2 up. Dr. D. M. Baillie defeated Clyde Banfield on the nineteenth in the second-flight final, and W. Brandon took the measure of C. J. Sumner in the third flight, 5 and 3. J. M. Wedderburn won the fourth flight final from Bill Findlay, 6 and 5.

The men's approaching competition went of C. J. Sumner and the women's to Miss E. V. Wiley. Clyde Banfield won the men's putting competition, while the prize for the women's low-putting score was taken by Mrs. Cora.

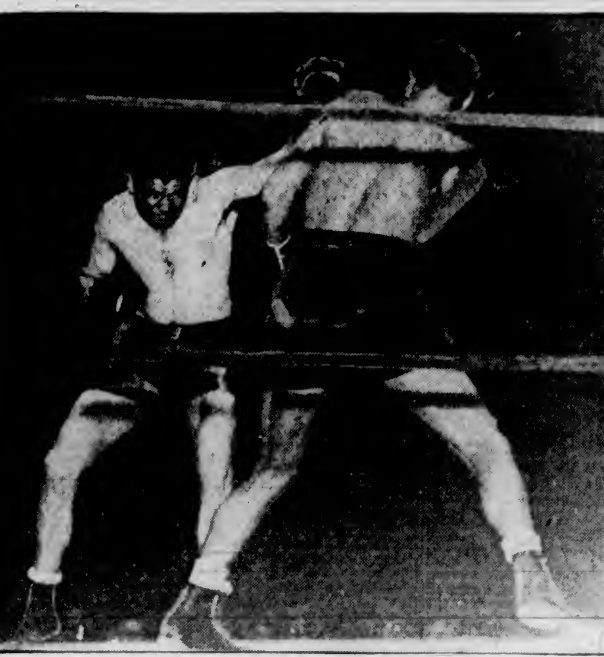

PRESENTED PRIZES
Prizes were presented by Mrs. H. P. Hodges at the conclusion of the day's play. In addition to the winners of the championship, flights and special competitions, trophies were previously were also given away.

These winners included H. H. Allen, medalist in the championship, and J. J. Bartlett, "B" class champion. Others were the winners in the women's events, including Miss E. V. Wiley, club champion, Miss Peggy Allen, runner-up; Miss Peggy Allen, medalist; Mrs. Deane Freeman, first flight; Mrs. D. W. Worry, second flight; Miss L. Newham, third flight.

R. A. Poullis was presented with the Carmichael Cup, and E. Colgate got the runner-up prize.

Frank Monahan, of the Marine Drive Golf Club, Vancouver, dropped his tee shot at the short second hole, a distance of 135 yards at the Victoria Golf Club on Sunday. He was playing with W. S. Campbell at the time of his feat.

Braddock Taking Baer's Crown

James J. Braddock, new heavyweight champion of the world, is pictured above sending a left to Max Baer's head during their fifteen-round bout in Madison Square Garden in New York City. Braddock's victory, regarded as the greatest pugilistic upset in modern history of the boxing game, surprised many fight experts. Baer, reported to have broken both hands in the match, declared he was through with the fight game. Neither of the fighters was knocked down in the bout.

JOE MEDWICK MAKES GAIN

Pulls Out of Batting Slump To Boost Mark—Martin Slips Steadily

By the Associated Press
Joe Medwick staged a comeback in the Big Six batting race yesterday, snapping a slump as he hit twice in four trips to the plate against the Giants, but Pepper Martin's average continued to drop. While Medwick raised his mark from .359 to .362, Martin dropped another point to .322. He hit only once in four attempts. The other four members of the Big Six were kept idle, the three American Leaguers being halted by rain, while the leader, Arky Vaughan, continued to nurse a charley horse.

VETERAN SHOTMAKER SHOWS WAY AS TEAM TAKES GOLF TROPHY

Turns in Thirty-Six-Hole Total of 145 to Play Big Role in Willingdon Cup Victory at Hamilton—British Columbians Second—Ken Lawson Has 79 and 86

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
HAMILTON GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, ANCASTER, Ont., June 17 (AP)—Ontario today took from British Columbia the Willingdon Cup, representing the Canadian team championship of inter-provincial golf.

Twenty-four players representing six provinces struggled through thirty-six holes of medal play under adverse weather conditions and it was not until 8 o'clock in the evening the winning team was decided in a semi-gale and sheets of rain that kept the beautiful Ancaster course.

Ontario's margin over British Columbia was only seven strokes. The Ontarians carding an aggregate of 612 against 619 for the defenders, who have held the title two years in succession.

In the third place, with an aggregate of 634, was Manitoba, while only another stroke away at 635 was the Quebec team. Alberta was fifth with 645 and New Brunswick last with 723.

SANDY LEADS TEAM
C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, of London, led Ontario to victory with a great display of golf. After being just over par 35 up to the last incoming journey, Sandy finished with even par figures.

Somerville put together 36-37-37-35 for a total of 145, low score for the day. Only one stroke away was young Ken Black of Vancouver, who carded 38-33-38-37 for 146. On his homeward journey in the first round Black had two birdies and even par figures the rest of the way.

On his afternoon round Somerville was one over par on the twelfth, another on the thirteenth, but had a birdie on the fourteenth and a second birdie on the seventeenth, a 300-yard hole with a par four.

Phil Farley and Jack Nash, of Ontario, were each in the thirties, except for one nine-hole journey. Farley finished with a total of 153 and Nash with 156. John Lewis, of Brantford, finished the home half of the second eighteen only one over par after a 44 on the outward trip. His aggregate was 158.

Ken Black was outstanding for British Columbia. Against his 146 aggregate, the next best his mates could do was 154, scored by Stan Leonard and Dick Moore. Ken Lawson ran into difficulties and on the last nine holes, where he piled up 44, five over par, found the weather too great a handicap.

TOURNEY OPENS TODAY
With his remarkable showing despite wind and rain, Black served notice he must be counted a serious contender for the Canadian amateur title hunt that gets under way tomorrow with 134 entrants starting out at match play. There is no qualifying round.

Black is drawn against one of the invaders from the United States, Robert Westfall, of Buffalo. Stew Vickers, Alberta, and Stan Leonard, British Columbia: Vickers..... 455 545 435-43
Leonard..... 444 445 435-43

Low scorer for the Manitoba team was young Bud Donovan with 153, 37-38-41-37.

New Champion at Gorge Course

FREDDY PAINTER
Who won the men's championship of the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday, by handing H. H. Allen, tournament medalist, a 12 and 10 setback in the scheduled thirty-six hole final. Painter played close to par golf and was nine up when the pair went to lunch. He ended the match at the twenty-sixth hole in the afternoon.

went to Hugh Jacques, of the Quebec team, who lost his ball and wound up with a ten on the fourth hole of the first outgoing nine.

The Alberta team couldn't find par figure all day. Each of the team got under 40 for at least one nine, but they were unable to stay there. Whit Matthews, whose best nine was a 37, finished with 162 aggregate, but Stew Vickers took low for his team with 39-40-43-37 for 159. R. L. Proctor was another higher and big Jim Mountfield ended up with 164 shooting 45 through the mist of the last nine.

PLAYERS DRENCHED
For the early round the players had only a high wind to contend with. But before the afternoon play could be started rain came in such torrents the tournament committee ordered a delay.

After waiting an hour the players were ordered to the starting tee. The rain alternately came in sheets and drizzles until every player and caddy was thoroughly soaked.

SOUTH AFRICA IN SERIOUS POSITION IN TEST

Requires 148 Runs To Avoid Innings Defeat in England

Wickets Fall Fast as Second Day's Play Is Concluded at Nottingham in First of Cricket Matches—Africans Score 17 for One in the Second Innings

NOTTINGHAM, England, June 17.—A devastating attack by a fast bowler, whose deliveries ripped up the turf like lightning put South Africa in a serious position at the end of the second day's play in the opening cricket test match against England.

Wickets fell like ninepins in the last hour of play as Morris Nichols launched his assault. South Africa, with nine wickets in hand, requires 148 runs to avoid an innings defeat. England declared at Saturday's closing score of 384 for seven wickets, the Springboks replying with 220 and, following on, seventeen runs for one wicket.

Rain yesterday left the pitch in a condition that R. E. S. Wyatt, the English captain, thought would suit his bowlers, and he decided to put his opponents in. The invaders defended stubbornly until the lunch adjournment when ninety-eight day past cover. Mitchell hit two runs had been obtained for the loss of only one wicket. After the interval, however, wickets fell steadily and at teatime five wickets were down for 196 runs. On the resumption the remaining batsmen were skittled out by the Essex fast bowler with only twenty-four runs added.

SOUTH AFRICA OPENS
Herbert Wade, South Africa's captain, sent I. J. Siedle, Natal, and B. Mitchell, Transvaal, to the wickets when Wyatt made his declaration at teatime. Siedle, who had scored twenty-one runs in the first innings, was sent in with the new ball.

William Bowes, Yorkshire, and M. S. Nichols, Essex, opened the bowling before 3,000 spectators, and runs came slowly. Hedley Verity, another Yorkshireman, and R. W. V. Robins, the Middlesex amateur, also took spells on the attack. The latter used a couple of goggles in each foot. Siedle drove Robins to the boundary when ninety-eight day past cover. Taylor Shoots Great Round at Oak Bay Course SPRINKLING birdies all over the course, especially over the last nine, Phil Taylor clipped six strokes off par for the Oak Bay course over the week-end while playing in a friendly fourball match with Alex Watson, John Morrell of Honolulu, and A. E. G. Musgrave, when he returned a brilliant 63 for the distance, the best card reported at the club for a long time. Taylor, professional at the Victoria Golf Club, had his woods and irons clicking in wonderful fashion, while his putter behaved like a charm. Taylor was over par on the first hole only once, at the third hole, but he bagged three birdies to reach the turn in 31, two below par. Under par figures at the twelfth and thirteenth and three more birdies on the last three holes gave Taylor a 32 coming home. This card is just two strokes more than the great 61 he made in August, 1931.

His card follows:
Out 535 443 322-31
In 444 244 343-32-63

For 198, 7 for 198, 8 for 215, 9 for 216, 10 for 220.

New Champion Sinks One

James J. Braddock, veteran New Jersey fighter, new ruler among the heavyweights, is showing about to sink a hard right-hander into Max Baer's mid-section during the early rounds of their championship bout in Madison Square Garden's big bowl at Long Island last Thursday night. Braddock sprang the biggest surprise in ring history by toppling the crown from the Californian's brow. He punched his way to a great fifteen-round decision over the clowning coast fighter, and received the unanimous decision of Referee Johnny McAvoy and the two judges.

Derbyshire Trundler Captures Ten Wickets for 64 Runs in Victory

LONDON, June 17.—For the first time in three years, a bowler's dream has been achieved. Plying in a first-class county cricket match at Leicester today, Thomas B. Mitchell, jovial Derbyshire trundler, captured ten wickets for sixty-four runs. The Leicestershire players compiled a total of 123 runs, the remaining fifty-nine runs coming from the deliveries of other bowlers on the Derbyshire side.

Three years ago, Hedley Verity, star Yorkshire bowler, accomplished an unprecedented achievement when he dismissed ten Nottinghamshire batsmen at Leeds for ten runs—a much better feat than that of the Derbyshire bowler. Not only did Verity secure all ten wickets, but he took seven of them for three runs with the last fifteen balls he sent down. In this instance, Nottinghamshire scored sixty-seven runs.

CLOSING SCORES
Close-of-play scores in county cricket championship games started Saturday follow:

Kent, 351 and 101 for six wickets; Warwickshire, 243; at Folkestone. Glamorgan, 326; Nottinghamshire, 189 for three wickets; (Gunn 74, Harris 70); at Cardiff.

Derbyshire, 140 and 227; Leicestershire, 123 (Mitchell 10 for 64) and 51 for one wicket; at Leicester. Northamptonshire, 238 and 118 for five; Somerset, 127; at Peterborough. Lancashire, 357 for eight declared and 35 for no wickets; Surrey, 300 (Holmes 101); at Manchester.

Sussex, 383; Hampshire, 144 and 20 for no wickets; at Hershham. Middlesex, 108; Yorkshire, 307 for six wickets (Harbor 107); at Lords. Essex, 157 and 230 for seven wickets; Cambridge University, 319; at Westcliff.

GOOD GRAPPLERS
British wrestlers are reputed throughout Europe to be as good as the best when it comes to an amateur way. But they aren't so hot at the Greek-Roman wrestling business. Two star Englishmen entered the European Greek-Roman championships here and went down and out in the first round. The Norseman star at this method of grappling.

The champion's 65 is the lowest non-competitive score ever made over Muirfield.

New York Mart Jogs Along at Leisurely Pace

NEW YORK, June 17 (AP).—The stock market today jogged along at a leisurely pace headed, apparently, for no very definite goal. With the exception of modest gains in utilities and some specialties, most price changes were narrowly irregular. Power shares were bid up only moderately so far as most individual issues were concerned, but the rise was enough to carry the Associated Press average for fifteen utility stocks to new high ground for 1935 at 314, up 4 of a point. The previous peak for the year was made on June 11, at 313.

Small declines in industrials and rails, however, left the Associated Press average of sixty stocks unchanged at 442. Turnover was 907,910 shares.

News developments failed to provide much ammunition for either bull or bear forces.

Amongst Canadian issues Ford of Canada "B" dropped a point. Fractional recessions occurred in such issues as International Nickel, McIntyre-Porcupine, Noranda, Distillers-Seagrams, Ford of Canada, Imperial Oil and Lakeshore. Canadian Pacific and Dome were a little higher.

Resuming the upward trend after a week-end rest, the corporate bond market displayed steadiness in all divisions today with gains of one to one-point, numerous among low-price rails.

Junior railroad obligations enjoyed a broad and active market.

Another outstanding feature of today's market was renewed strength in bonds of International Telephone, which advanced one to more than two points before the heavy demand was supplied and a slight recession carried them down a trifle from the day's high.

Postal Telegraph 5 1/2 likewise bounded up, closing 31-2 points higher at 303-4.

WHAT'S DOING ON THE LOCAL RETAIL PRODUCE MARKET
Egg prices advanced one cent per dozen retail yesterday, the first fluctuation in the market for some weeks. Standard brand butter was down 1 cent per pound on the retail market, making the first change in over six weeks.

A large shipment of bananas arrived here last night and was packed at a late hour. After ripening in local warehouses for several days the bananas will go on sale at usual prices.

With dealers preparing their products for jam, strawberry prices are expected to firm up this week. Meanwhile yesterday's prices remained strong at 10 cents per pound.

There is a large quantity of locally-produced lettuce, beets and carrots on the Victoria retail market. Carrots remained strong in price, while California plums are moving well.

THE DEUCE!

A common exclamation or ejaculation is "The Deuce!"

Going back to the early Sixteenth Century for its earliest recorded appearance in the English language, its spoken use undoubtedly far antedates this by a long time.

In the speech of the first inhabitants of Great Britain there was a variation of deuce (from the French deus, God) which was used to indicate a phantom, specter or goblin in wine. It only became known collectively as the devil!

In the superstitious days of yore, to let the devil's name pass the lips was blasphemous. Dire visitations might follow, vindictive manifestations of the demon's uncharitably displeasure, or what not.

So arose the expression "The Deuce!"—a euphemism for the devil—a means by which one could blame and name the wrecker of evil; but, not having uttered the word, the consequences were avoided.

Duncan Grammar School Defeats Glenlyon, 68-27

With Robson taking eight wickets for twelve runs, Duncan Grammar School's second eleven defeated Glenlyon Preparatory School, 68 to 27, Saturday afternoon at Oak Bay Park in a friendly cricket match.

Collinson batted well for the winners, putting on twenty-three runs before being bowled by Darling Miller, of the losers, played a fine innings, going in fourth and carrying his bat for sixteen runs, more than half of his team's total. Radling bowled well for the losers, taking six wickets for thirty-five runs.

FATHERS WIN
Fathers defeated the Sons, 66-57, Saturday afternoon in a friendly cricket match played on the Malvern House School playing grounds. Captain Proudfoot scored twenty-three runs for the winners and carried his bat. Mudie was the best bowler for the Fathers' side, taking nine wickets for eighteen runs.

Gratton, with thirteen, and Garrard and Turner, with ten runs each, led the sixteen players on the Sons' side.

Following the match fathers entertained the boys to tea at the Hudson's Bay.

SAILORS HAND BRUINS FIRST BALL DEFEAT

Barker Hits Two Homers As Navy Beats Fuelmen By 7-3 Score

Defeat of Painter's Bruins and Poodle Dog Cafe, first and second place teams, respectively, in the "B" Section of the Lower Island Softball Association, featured yesterday evening's fixtures.

Two homers by Bert Barker, husky first sacker, helped the Navy on their way to a 7-3 victory over Painter's Bruins at Memorial Park. Barker crashed out a four-base hit in the first inning with two men on, and then hit another for good measure in the third frame with one man on. It was the first defeat of the season for the fuel men.

Field scoreless for five innings. Bruins broke into the scoring column for the first time when they sent two runners the distance in the sixth frame. They added a lone marker, and the final of the game, in the seventh stanza.

Score by innings—
Navy..... 4 0 2 1 0 0 0 7
Bruins..... 0 0 0 0 2 1 0 3

Batteries—Davies and Langlois; J. Jewsbury and A. Kirkbride.

EAGLES WIN
Coming from behind about halfway through the fixture, Eagles turned on the heat and slugged their way to a 9-7 victory over a fighting Poodle Dog, nine at Central Park, upper diamond.

Bapcos finally clicked in the winning slot when they trounced Kreages, 16-2, at Central Park, lower diamond. The paintmen hit the ball hard and a loose-fielding Kreage squad that made many errors helped Bapcos to their initial victory of the season.

In a ding-dong eleven-inning battle, Young Liberals needed out the Hustlers, 9-8, at Savory Park, in a "C" Section fixture.

Spencers continued their victorious march by walloping Hills Corner, at Spencer Park. In the other "C" Section game, Hudson's Bay came through with a 11-0 win over the Revelers.

WILKINSON SHIELD
The first game to be played in the Wilkinson Shield competition, played mainly on the greens of the Beacon Hill Club, between doubles teams from all the city clubs, resulted in a win for M. Mossey and A. Marconini, 15-14.

E. F. Fox and A. B. McNeill beat J. McMartin and E. G. Sherwood, 25-34.

Turner and W. H. Youhill beat W. J. MacAllan and F. R. Feham, 19-15.

Soccer Trophies Are on Display
Trophies won by clubs in the Victoria and District Wednesday Football League, and miniature cups for Spencer's and Hudson's Bay soccer players, are now on display in the Douglas Street window of David Spencer's, Ltd. The cups will be presented at the annual banquet of the league to be held on Thursday evening at 7.30 o'clock in Spencer's dining-room.

In the club singles eliminations in the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, W. H. Youhill is now in the final in the upper bracket of the afternoon section, ready to meet the winner of the game yet to be played in the lower bracket between F. B. Yates and C. W. Childs. UPSET FEATURE OF TITLE MEET

V. Hicks Defeats R. Butler, Former Champion, in Hillcrest Tourney

Defeat of Ralph Butler, former Equilmalt and Hillcrest Club champion, by Vivian Hicks provided the upset yesterday at the Hillcrest Tennis Club courts as play in the annual championship tournament progressed. Playing good tennis all the way, Hicks held the upper hand throughout, and after taking the initial set, 6-4, stroked his way through to an easy 6-1 victory in the second and deciding set.

"Skipper" McVane, veteran racquet wielder, put up a good fight with Ivan Temple before going down to defeat in a three-set match with scores of 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

LITTLE ALBY

IF YOU PLEASE SIR, COULD YOU SPARE ME A BOWL OF THOSE CRISPY, CRUNCHY, GOLDEN "GRAPE-NUTS" FLAKES?

CERTAINLY NOT! BE OFF WITH YOU RAGAMUFFIN!

PLEASE, MR. GENTLEMAN, YOU WON'T UNKINDLY REFUSE ME LIKE YOUR BUTLER DID—

OH DADDY PLEASE—

IT'S A CINCH! SHE'S UP THERE ALONE NOW

SHE'S GOOD FOR FIFTY GRAND!

DO BELIEVE THEY'RE GOING TO KIDNAP THE LOVELY LADY!

COME ALONG SISTER, AND NOT A DEEP OUT OF YOU!

EEK!

FEAR NOT, MISS LADY, I SHALL HAVE WORDS WITH THESE RUDE MEN.

HO HO! LOOKIT THE PEANUT! LET'S BATTER 'IM TO PIECES!

FOR YOU, FAIR MISS, AND MAYHAP A KIND REWARD OF THOSE CRINKLY "GRAPE-NUTS" FLAKES!

YOU SAVED MY DAUGHTER, ASK FOR ANYTHING AND ITS YOURS.

JENKINS, SEE WHAT ELSE THE YOUNG MAN WILL HAVE.

OH, KIND SIR, JUST ANOTHER PORTION OF THOSE WONDEROUS "GRAPE-NUTS" FLAKES!

LITTLE ALBY IS CRAZY ABOUT "GRAPE-NUTS" FLAKES
AND YOU WON'T BLAME HIM, ONCE YOU TRY THEM YOURSELF. THEY'RE THE MOST DELICIOUS CEREAL YOU EVER TASTED! AND "GRAPE-NUTS" FLAKES ARE NUTRISHING, TOO.

ONE DISHFUL, WITH MILK OR CREAM, GIVES YOU MORE VARIED NUTRIMENT THAN MANY A HEARTY MEAL.....IT'S MADE IN CANADA

TRY IT—YOUR GROCER HAS IT!

Jane Dixon Says:

LOVERS SHOULD ALWAYS BE TRUTHFUL—AND A HUSBAND CAN'T HAVE HIS WIFE AND FAMILY AND THE OTHER WOMAN, TOO.

Our own problems always seem so much more puzzling than any other problems. Our own heartbreaks, we are sure, are so much more painful than any other heartbreaks. You'd think, to hear us complain and moan, that Fate singled us out to use for a football.

The best medicine for our doldrums is to look about us and see what Fate has handed the other fellow.

How puny some of our burdens seem in the face of a letter like this:

"Dear Miss Dixon," writes a Wondering Patient, "I have had tuberculosis and still have it. Am in bed and have been for five months. The doctor says that I can get up in another month and that I will be entirely cured, but that I still have to take good care of my health.

"I was fortunate to find I had this trouble early, so that it could be checked.

"The question is: Should I tell the girl I go with what has been the matter with me? I don't like to have people know about it. The girl loves me and I love her. Do you think it would affect her love for me?

"I believe she already suspects what the trouble is. I have an older brother who has the same thing. I have never been sick before, and some people think that I may have tuberculosis, but they are not certain. Please tell me what you would do.—A Wondering Patient."

TRUE LOVE IS NEVER A CHEAT</
